Freeway Routing Is Suggested To Transit Directors

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District's route through central Contra Costa County will follow the freeway through Orinda, Lafayette and Walnut Creek, and then will turn northward to Pleasant Hill and Concord, it was announced yesterday.

Directors of the five-county district got their first look at the proposed system at a meeting yesterday. Representatives of three top engineering firms presented the directors with a partial outline of the transit network and the problems which must be solved before it can be built.

THIS FIRST official routing —no other one has ever been presented to the district's officials—eliminates two of the major items which were controversial in the Lafayette-Walnut Creek area.

The freeway routing eliminates the necessity of destroying residential properties in the Sun Valley area and of building an elevated portion of the transit system through the Lafayette business district.

Both of these considerations had been publicly opposed by the Lafayette Improvement Association, the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce, and various service clubs and neighborhood improvement groups in the area.

ORIGINALLY, engineers for the Tudor Engineering Company had announced that the transit district's most practical and least expensive routing was along the Moraga Boulevard-Newell Avenue route through Sun Valley and other residential subdivisions.

As presented to the directors yesterday, the system is 132 miles long and has 63 passenger stations throughout the five counties. Twenty-three of the stations would be of the subway type, while the others would be elevated or surface stations.

Assisting the district and the Tudor Company in the study are the Bechtel Corporation of San Francisco and Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade and Douglas of New York.

ESTIMATED PRICE tag for construction of the system is $1,199,695,000, including the cost of the trans-Bay tube, key link in the system, for which financing has already been provided by the State Legislature.

The study team estimated that the tunnel from Oakland through the Berkeley hills into Contra Costa County will cost $50 million.

THIS TRIO of Charleston performers will be among the 12 featured acts in the special talent show to be presented by Pine Grove School students for the school's Parents' Club meeting Thursday evening. The club's meeting will also include election of new officers. From left to right are Julie Hickcox, Ellen Deaul and Janet Hawes. — Sun photo by Kessler.

Fire District Budget Hike Told

Local Board Denies Blame For Increased Costs

Commissioners of the Orinda County Fire Protection District have claimed that the $50,619 increase in the district's budget for next year and any tax increase which it might cause are factors which are beyond their control.

The commissioners reviewed the proposed 1960-61 budget at their last meeting, and forwarded the $292,139 document to County Auditor Howard McNamer for approval. The 1959-60 budget for the district was $241,520.

In a letter to McNamer which accompanied theb udget, Clarence Betz, district secretary and finance officer, said the budget was approved "with great reluctance" by the commissioners because it is the largest in the district's history.

BETZ POINTED out that more than 80 per cent of the total proposed budget is for salaries and benefits that the County Board of Supervisors has established, or is in the process of establishing for firemen in the local distric and other districts in the county.

He said that the preliminary budget includes funds for the 10 per cent wage increase that the County Fire Fighters Association has requested in addition to regular merit increase already provided for.

The commissioners' approval of the new budget was made with the provision that, in the event wage scales will not be as high as the 10 per cent, an adjustment will be made downward in the budget to comply with the supervisors' action.

SUPERVISORS already have granted firemen fringe benefits requested by the fire fighters' group, and the county board has under consideration the request for higher wages.

Copies of Betz's letter were sent to Chairman Mel Nielsen of the board of supervisors and County Administrator J. P. McBrien.

In view of the supervisors' two recent orders, the letter said, "relating to hours of employment, sick leave, continuing pay retirements, uniforms, miscellaneous equipment, holidays, vacations, insurance and sick leave, the commissioners feel that any increase in the tax rate for the ensuing fiscal year with a resulting increase in taxes, is a matter that is beyond their control."

BETZ POINTED out that the district had a $24,000 balance to apply to last year's budget of $241,520, and he expects a balance of about $20,000 for the next year, so that the additional monies needed to operate the district will have to come from additional taxes.

The budget specifies $269,246 of the total amount for maintenance and operation, including salaries.

Judge Rahn Says Court Well Run; Hits 'Anonymous Group' Charge

Judge Betsy FitzGerald Rahn of the Walnut Creek Municipal Court today replied to charges printed in The Sun last Friday that the court is improperly run in comparison with other courts in the county.

The article carried by The Sun was compiled from material gathered by a local group of attorneys. Judge Rahn was given space in the last issue of The Sun to answer these charges, and was promised equal space in this issue.

Here is her statement:

"First, I wish to plainly state that I resent being put in the position of having to answer an anonymous letter. I am sure every good and decent citizen abhors anonymous letter writers. The implications of the whole of the anonymous release are misleading and false and are so designed to be.

"The comparison of the work of two or more courts, taking a short period of time and dealing only with certain types of cases, can be made to produce any result you want—if you pick your times and cases.

"IT IS LIKE taking statements out of context or like comparing apples and pears. For example, statistics will show disposal of one case only, whether it is a jury trial that takes three days of the court's time or a default hearing on a small claims matter which takes three minutes.

"Obviously, a court can dispose of a great many small claims actions in three days. It is noted that in the Walnut Creek Court in 1958, there was one jury trial; in 1959, there were 12 jury trials; and in the first four months of 1960 there have already been nine jury trials. This is an increasing trend in all courts largely due to increased penalties imposed by the policies of the Department of Motor Vehicles and some insurance companies.

"I DO NOT believe that any court should be a mill for grinding out decisions by the clock. It is the quality of justice that is important, not the quantity.

"Cases before me are judged on the merits of the evidence before the court. I do not make deals with or promises to the District Attorney, law enforcement officers, attorneys or private litigants.

"I have made, and do make, only one promise—to the people of the Walnut Creek Judicial District—to deal with each case fairly and impartially without fear or favor.

"THE EFFICIENCY of operation of the Walnut Creek Court has been commended by County officials and people who have had contact with it. It is my understanding that the Law Enforcement Committee of the 1960 Contra Costa County Grand Jury has been making a study of the operation of Justice and Municipal Courts.

"Their report should be available shortly. It will be interesting to see what it has to say.

"Cases are being set for hearing in the Walnut Creek Court in June and July. The average trial setting in our court is two months. This compares favorably with the operations of other Municipal Courts and is considerably more current than many.

"MY HOURS ON the bench are comparable with, and often in excess of those of other Judges. It should be remembered that hours on the bench constitute only part of the duties of a Judge.

"Again, I urge any one interested in the Walnut Creek Municipal Court to visit the court and observe its operations and efficiency first hand."

Attorneys in Rahn Attack Are Named

These are the names of the attorneys who last week released information pertaining to the record of the Walnut Creek Municipal Court under the judgeship of Municipal Judge Betsy FitzGerald Rahn.

Budd W. MacDonald of Walnut Creek, spokesman for the attorneys, named John Den-Dulk of Orinda, Dale Wright of Walnut Creek and Phillip Angell of Lafayette.

MacDonald stated three other attorneys did not want to be identified at this time.

Fluoridation, Muni Court Will Be Speech Topics

Fluoridation? Municipal Court Judge? Questions and answers?

All these will be provided at The Sun Candidates' Night June 1 at 8 p.m. at Acalanes High School auditorium.

Timed to provide you with the latest information before the June primary elections, this meeting will feature a discussion on fluoridation of the East Bay Municipal Utility District water supply by two speakers, one for the measure and one opposed to it.

Members of the audience will have an opportunity to question these speakers following their ten minute talks and their five minute "rebuttal" period.

Sharing the stage on the dual program will be Judge Betsy FitzGerald Rahn and attorney Joseph Longacre who will discuss "My Views on the Operation of the Municipal Court."

Bobolinks to Fete New Members

The junior members of the Bobolinks of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center are honoring the new members and graduating senior members at a party tomorrow.

This will be a swimming and barbecue party given at the home of the president of the Bobbies, Sally Spott, on Brookbank Road, Orinda. The juniors are being organized by Sally Holabird to plan the food and entertainment for the affair.

The new members who are being honored at the party are:

Resident Is Indignant at 'Attorneys'

A Walnut Creek resident this week took issue with the charges of local attorneys that the Walnut Creek Municipal Court is not well run.

Josh Brady, former Walnut Creek Planning Commission member and a leader of parent groups in the Buena Vista area, made the following statement:

"In The Sun's review of the election controversy over the municipal judgship, one question hits me right in the eye.

"And that's this: Who are these masked champions of legal justice in Walnut Creek who almost feel strongly enough about endorsing their candidate to sign their names? Almost, that is, but not quite.

"Now, what do you suppose might motivate a 'group of local attorneys who have asked that their names be withheld' to remain anonymous after submitting a list of loaded-dice questions like this one?

"COULD IT be because it is not ethical for a local attorney to endorse a candidate for judge at all, knowing that in good faith toward his profession, as well as toward his clients, there can be no debts outstanding, campaign type or otherwise, between himself and the judge before whom he may later represent those clients?

"Of course, this may not be the reason at all. But the others I can think of don't sound as nice even as that one.

"NOW, I AM hoping someone will say to me, "Say, you sound as if you've got a stake in this deal, Bud. What's in it for you, anyway?'

"Because, as a matter of fact, as a citizen of Walnut Creek there is quite a bit in it for me.

"For me and my wife and kids, that is.

"It's this: If we don't hang onto some pretty high standards in our fast developing city, and especially in the city court system, brother, we're in for it!

"BECAUSE, in its law enforcement role, a weak court represents one of the juiciest soft spots in the city government through which to exploit the city's people for private gain.

"And to keep right on doing it year after year under court protection. And me, I don't want that.

"Really, I'm saying only this—just be sure you know some things that are both important and good about the person you vote into that little old judgeship, and don't be content with vague but catchy words from some faceless John Does.

"Maybe their candidate is a good man, but Ive got to admit their approach has got be doubting that already."

Recruiting Chief To Speak to Boys

Chief John Wilson of the Naval Recruiting Reserve Station spoke to 17-year-old boys and their parents at Miramonte High School Wednesday.

He explained the universal military training law, and advised the boys on their military obligations. Miramonte Principal James Lewis assisted with the program.

Assessor's Bad News--It's Just A Matter of Time

"Bad news" was the only news from County Assessor C. L. Dunklee's office recently in the Walnut Creek School District area, but slight increases in the actual tax bills in Lafayette and Orinda are forerunners of something bigger next year.

Dunklee announced this week that all the notices of 1960-61 assessed values have been mailed to local property owners in the Walnut Creek area following a "review" by re-assessment teams.

The arrival of these notices shocked many owners of commercial property, who found startling increases in the assessed values of their land (ideally 27 per cent of actual value). The shock was felt by homeowners, who received notices and then failed to pass the proposed Walnut Creek School District bond issue.

SAID FRED Wanaka, assistant assessor, "This is an area where property values are going up rapidly. What was once an orchard is now a business district.

"For a number of years, some landowners have been getting a free ride. This was the first general reappraisal ever attempted in the county. The biggest changes, I believe, came in the North Broadway area."

Lafayette and Orinda residents will note a slight increase in their tax bills, although they will not receive any notices, since reassessment is not complete.

This year, a 10 per cent general increase in LAND assessed valuations has been applied by the assessor's office to avoid obvious inequities between areas reassessed and those not.

REASSESSMENT teams are working hard in both Lafayette and Orinda, and they will be finished in time for next year and notice of new assessments will arrive in both areas at this time next year.

Of course, the complete reassessment will include land, improvements on the land (such as houses), and personal property, and so the difference will be large in many cases, said Wanaka.

Similar assessment reviews are going on elsewhere in the county.

The Pleasant Hill area felt the big bite last year, since Mt. Diablo District was among the first to be reassessed.

THE ACTUAL tax notices go out late in the year, with the first installment due in January and the second in April.

Wanaka added that the county's portion of the total tax bill is relatively small, and the basic county tax rate itself has decreased from $2.48 in 1951 to $2.28 now.

"Seventy per cent of the money goes back where it came from," he said.

Schools Plan 1st Art Show Sunday

The first district-wide art show of the Orinda Union School District will be held at the Pine Grove School from 2 to 6 p.m. Sunday, and the public has been invited to attend.

Mrs. Florence Rossi, district art teacher, said art work representing all of the classrooms in Orinda's school will be on display. There is no competition involved in the show, she said, and it is intended only as a progress display.

The district art teacher pointed out that she has received a great deal of cooperation from students, parents and teachers in the decorating and displaying of the show.

School Trustees Plan Music Talk

"Mind, Matter, Music" will be the theme of the annual Contra Costa School Boards' Association meeting Wednesday. It is scheduled at 8 p.m. in the Richmond auditorium and will feature a concert by the famed Griller Quartet and the Honor Orchestra of Northern California.

Also featured will be an address by Howard Vesper, president of Standard Oil Company of California, Western Operations, Inc.

BECAUSE THE purpose of the program is to illustrate and discuss music's role in this age of technology, Boardman Moore, president of the school boards' association, has declared the meeting open to the public for the first time in the association's history.

Music teachers from all Northern California counties have been invited to attend the concert to hear the Honor Orchestra and the Griller Quartet. The quartet has been under the leadership of Stanley Griller of the University of California since 1928, with the exception of the war years. It has achieved fame as one of the world's most outstanding string quartets.

THE HONOR Orchestra is comprised of high school students who have been chosen for their musicianship. Among them are several local students: Mario Guarneri and Bob Newman from Miramonte and Terry Moore and Bill Allcorn from Acalanes.

Modern Dance Concert Tonight

The fifth annual Children's Concert of Modern Dance, sponsored by the Orinda Art Center and the Valley Art Center, will be presented tonight in the Lafayette School Auditorium at 7:30.

Two full-length dances will be shown. The Orinda Workshop will dance "The Pomegranate Seeds," based on the Greek legend of Prosephone, to Greek folk music.

The Lafayette Workshop will dance "The Enchanted Forest," an original fairy tale with music by Milhaud.

This concert is unlike the usual dance recital in that the choreography has been done completely by the children. Each solo dance has been composed by the child dancing it.

Group dances are directed by the children with more experience or special aptitude. The young dancers are all members of the advanced modern dance classes taught in Orinda and Lafayette by Lynda Hickox Robinson. The children range in age from nine to 14 years.

Don Woodcock to Be Eagle Scout

Boy Scout Troop 247 will hold an Eagle Court of Honor at 7:30 p.m. Monday to advance Don Woodcock to the rank of Eagle Ecout.

It will be held at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Orinda. Henry Blaylock, Scout executive of the Mt. Diablo Council, will present the award.

Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Woodcock of St. Stephen's Drive and the older brother of Gary and Kent. He is a freshman at Miramonte High School. He will celebrate his fifteenth birthday the day before receiving this award.

Don has been an acolyte at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church for two years and has earned the God and Country Award. He is senior patrol leader of Troop 247 and has been elected by the troop to membership in the Order of the Arrow. Troop 247 is under the leadership of Scoutmasters Roger Bond and S. Stanley Hunn.

At the Boy Scout junior leaders conference, held this month at Acalanes High School, Don was selected to be group discussion leader.

Fire Department Show Tomorrow

The Orinda County Fire Protection District, in conjunction with the American Red Cross, will present live demonstration of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation techniques in the Crossroads area beginning at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Chief Allan Winsor of the fire department announced that the day's program will also include a display of all of the department's equipment and an explanation and display of the district's rescue unit.

He explained that the event is being held as the first step in a program designed to better acquaint the public with the operation of the local fire department.

Location of the demonstration will be in front of the American Trust Company bank near the Orinda Theatre, he said, and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation procedures will be demonstrated every 20 minutes until about 2 p.m.

"Sparky the Dog," the fire department's five-foot talking dog, will also be on hand to answer questions of young Orindans.

Winsor reported that displays announcing the demonstration have been on display at both local banks during the last week.

Miramonte Group Answers Charges Of 16 Parents

A large group of parents of Miramonte High School students made its voice heard this week in answer to the criticism leveled at the school's administration last week by 16 other parents who met with a member of the Acalanes Union High School District board.

The parents' viewpoints were expressed in a letter written by a prominent Orindan, who asked that his name be withheld because he has two sons attending Miramonte.

THE WRITER called the criticism by the 16 parents "entirely inappropriate" and referred to it as "the maligning personal attack."

Principal James Lewis, dean of Girls Naomi Giddings and the Miramonte counseling program were allegedly the topics of discussion by the small group of parents who met with Dr. Ralph Hall in his Orinda home May 3.

In answering their reported charges, the letter writer indicated he had no knowledge of the meeting beforehand and "the criticisms made are contrary to the observations and experiences I have had over the past five years as a parent and as a participant in various high school organizations and committees."

HE DEFENDED LEWIS, stating: "He is definite, understanding and knowledgeable in his own opinions and statements. Having heard him discuss a wide variety of educational issues, I have been impressed by the balance of educational issues, I have been impressed by the balance and breadth of his views He has a fine staff that works with him productively and cooperatively."

The spokesman also applauded the school's counseling program, both for students who wish to attend college and those who do not, and said one Parents Club meeting each year is devoted to a review of graduation requirements, program goals and college preparatory requirements.

Sun Wins National Award For Public Relations

The Sun was honored this week by the announcement that it has been awarded second place for Community Relations and Newspaper Promotion by the National Editorial Association.

First place award in this category went to the Daily San Bernardino Sun-Telegram.

The national award was given to The Sun for outstanding work in community relations for such activities as Sun Candidates Nights and the annual Man of the Year awards presented in our communities.

THE AWARD, which will be received by Sun Publisher Herman Silverman, was won by The Sun in competition with daily and weekly newspapers throughout the nation in the National Editorial Association's 1960 Better Newspaper Contest.

In recent years The Sun has been the winner of 17 state and national awards, including having been named the best weekly newspaper in California, having the best editorial page, and being cited for outstanding community service.

In commenting on the award to The Sun, the judges said: "The Sun carried out an . . . effective promotion campaign that kept the newspaper's name in the public spotlight.

"SPONSONSHIP of a number of local events, including a man of the year selection, in addition to subscription and advertising promotions were well organized and effectively carried out."

Silverman added that "Naturally we are pleased with this recognition of The Sun's quality, but this award would not have been possible without the continuing support of our subscribers and advertisers."

Jury Committee Asks Changes in Welfare Laws

The social welfare committee of the 1960 Contra Costa County Grand Jury has praised the operation of the county's welfare department "within the framework of the law," but called for changes in the law on the state and federal levels.

The committee's report was released today by its chairman, Elizabeth B. Duncan of Orinda. The report said Contra Costa's welfare program is "most efficinetly" administered by Welfare Director W. G. Golden and his department.

EIGHT recommendations are also included in the report and they are as follows:

"1—That our legislators oppose further liberalization of public assistance laws.

"2—That welfare authorities as a group be more realistic in their consideration of society as a whole.

"3—That the "Caseload Management" project, a structured method of handling Aid to Needy Children cases, instituted by Golden with the object of preventing continued dependency and disorganization of the family, be implemented by the County Board of Supervisors, and utilized to the fullest extent.

"4—THAT THE director's plan for initiation of a program of employment counseling, retaining and placement as a means of promoting self-support and preventing continued dependency be initiated at the earliest possible date.

"5—That further studies on marital counseling be made by the social service department.

"6—That more caseworkers be added to the child welfare division for the purpose of investigating and licensing foster homes.

"7—That the medical assistance program be thoroughly re-evaluated, with a view to providing sound administration of medical care benefits.

"8—THAT LOCAL economies in the social service budget be carefully considered."

Sanitary District Board Works to Solve Inequities

Schools moved into the limelight at the Central Contra Costa District directors' meeting last Thursday night.

Three school districts were represented by Robert Pedder of Lafayette, J. Gordon Ainsworth of Orinda and Irving Kraemer of Walnut Creek.

Confusion reigned over the sanitary district's use charge with respect to schools. Kraemer asked for an interpretation, and Gerry Horstkotte, district manager, explained no provision had yet been made for schools.

HE SAID the staff wants school districts to decide whether they want to pay the regular initial connection charge, a reduced connection charge and a use charge on a classroom basis, or a charge on each entire building.

Directors authorized the district staff to send letters to all affected school districts listing these alternates, and announced that the course selected by a majority of the districts would rule.

Board President Richard Mitchell pointed out if schools elected to come under the commercial charge they would pay more in the long run than if they decided to continue paying the initial connection fee.

SEVEN SCHOOL districts have been asked their preference. They are Lafayette, Moraga, Walnut Creek, Mt. Diablo, Danville, Acalanes Union and Orinda Union districts.

Director Ernest Spiegl said before any changes were made concerning schools, the districts would have an opportunity to be heard.

Spiegy asked for a clarification of "commercial," noting that "other than residential" is too broad a definition.

The board authorized an amendment to exempt all government-operated installations from the charge. Spiegl added this meant government at any level. All other "commercial" installations would still be charged, including churches.

THE MINIMUM billing was changed to a charge based on the total fixtures of an entire building, rather than by units within the buildings.

This will reduce the charge made on many smaller buildings with minimum fixtures to $2 monthly, from the former $2 charge made on each unit of the building.

On multiple-dwelling units which are occasionally vacant, the board agreed that the district would bill and let the owner certify the entire building had been vacant during the previous quarter, if this had been the case. An adjustment would then be made.

Mitchell requested that the staff bring complaints on vacancies to the board if they should arise.

Directors noted a southerly Walnut Creek area that is now exempt from the use charge because it was originally exempt from connection charges. It includes Kaiser Hospital, Emil Villa's, the Newell Pharmacy and others. They plan to study the area and adjust the ordinance to include it.

In other action directors passed a resolution requesting the Board of Supervisors to recognize the district's ultimate service area.

They also authorized the sale of $2,900,000 in the 1956 Series D bonds to the First Western Bank and Trust Company at a net interest of $2,951,331, at the rate of 4.2853.

AUTHORIZATION was granted to call for bids on Line D and plans and specifications were approved. This is the new sewer trunk line from Walnut Creek through the center of Lafayette.

A request for extension of time on the Orinda Crossroads and Moraga pumping stations was granted.

Authorization was given for condemnation of easements in the Diablo Public Utility District.

Pine Grove to See Talent Show

The general meeting of the Pine Grove Parents' Association will be held in Pine Grove School auditorium Thursday at 8 p.m.

President Mrs. Kenneth M. Brown will conduct a brief business meeting including the election of new board members and acceptance of bylaws.

The program will be the Talent Show, put on by Pine Grove students. The 12 acts will include "Little Darlin" with Judy Johannessen, Joyce Thompson and Sue Davis; "Stairway to Heaven" with Terri Morriss and Sandy Lee; "Bell Bottom Trousers" with Bonnie Beasley and Toni Ayres; and "Banana Boat" with Jay Grilli, Bob Lyman, Hap Parks and Dave Parish.

--What Is It? That Confusing Sewer Use Charge

The Central Contra Costa Sanitary District's new sewer use charge is a matter of confusion to many people.

Who pays and how much? Who doesn't pay and why not? These are some of their questions.

In December 1959 the board of directors adopted Ordinance 37 establishing the use charge for commercial users of the district's sewer system. The ordinance became effective January 4, 1960.

Under its terms all users other than single-family residences are subject to a monthly sewer charge based upon the type of occupancy and quantity and quality of sewage discharged. The minimum charge is $2 per month.

THE DISTRICT has established a table of rates for all types of plumbing fixtures, based on the average volume of sewage flow. Buildings which have minimum fixtures pay the minimum monthly charge.

The board of directors voted last year to exclude from the ordinance all installations operated by government at any level. Schools fall in this category.

Another amendment they voted was to assess an entire building for the number of fixtures and apply the rate scale to the total fixtures. Original the minimum charge was made on each unit contained in a building.

PERSONS WHO have paid a connection charge within the past 7½ years are allowed credits, if at the time of connection a permit was issued. Credits can cover such users' charge up to 90 months, when the users will become subject to the monthly charge.

New commercial buildings connecting to the district's sewers will now pay a reduced connection fee and will begin immediately to pay the use charge. Single family homes will continue to pay only the connection charge, unless the ordinance is amended to include them.

PRUNE BY PINCHING

Pinching is the gardener's way of guiding growth on such plants as fuchsias, chrysanthemums, carnations and dahlias. A properly timed pinch will elminiate some need for heavier pruning on many other shrubs at a later date.

Capt. Magill Gets High Patrol Post

Captain Russell Magill, 46-year-old chief of the Contra Costa County unit of the California Highway Patrol for nearly six years, was named late Wednesday to the post of deputy commissioner of the patrol.

In his new post, which he will assume Monday, Magill will serve as the assistant to CHP Commissioner Bradford Crittenden. There has been no deputy CHP commissioner since before Crittenden assumed office last year.

Magill said, "It is with a great deal of nostalgia that I am leaving Contra Costa County. It requires a promotion of this magnitude to take me away, and I will leave a little bit of me here."

The highway patrol's new second-in-command said he had no real prior knowledge of his appointment, and expressed gratitude for the opportunity to serve as an administrator under Crittenden.

Magill is a native of San Francisco and has been with the highway patrol exactly half of his 46 years. He and his wife, Alice, and two children, Linda, 13, and Tim, 10, live at 1130 Lovell Court, Concord.

George McMeans Gets Big 1st Hit For College Nine

George McMeans of Lafayette, freshman first baseman for the Lehigh University nine in Bethlehem, Pa., broke into college competition in a big way recently.

McMeans first hit for the Lehigh freshmen was a two-run homer in the final inning, which provided the margin of victory, as Lehigh downed Lawrenceville, 4-3.

It proved to be an even bigger event than the win would indicate as George's father, George, Sr., of 900 Diablo Drive, happened to be in the area on a business trip and witnessed the contest.

The Lehigh freshmen have won all of their four starts to date—and all of them by one run.

Ceremonies Mark Opening Of New Orinda Safeway

Right on schedule, the new Safeway Store located at 2 Camino Sobrante, Orinda opened Wednesday morning following the cutting of a ceremonial ribbon.

Wielding the ribbon - cutting shears was three-year-old Debbie Snow, daughter of Jack Snow, owner and developer of the shopping center of which the new food store is apart.

QUENTIN REYNOLDS, Safeway's San Francisco division manager, said, "We selected Debbie to cut the ribbon because she symbolizes Orinda's youth and vitality. Its vigorous growth so far indicates Orinda will rapidly increase its importance as a major community. We're pleased and proud to be a part of this growth."

Local civic and business leaders attended the ceremonies.

Following the brief ceremonies the invited guests were treated to a tour of the new store conducted by Manager Dave Burns and other Safeway officials.

"Service" and "Convenience for Customers" are to be the bywords of the new food store, Burns stated.

THE SPACIOUS parking lot for 125 cars is lighted by numerous high-density electroiliers and provides numerous driveways for easy entrance.

Magic carpet doors open automatically as customers enter or leave the store.

A special customer service booth, where checks may be cashed and empty bottles returned, has been installed near the entrance. Here too, are public telephones.

New Safeway Store Has 44 Employees

Safeway's new Orinda store which opened Wednesday has a staff of 44 employees under the management of Dave Burns, 12-year veteran with the Company.

"Most of these people are Safeway experienced employees, selected to work in this fine store because of their outstanding performance in customer service and courtesy," Burns said.

"THE BALANCE of the crew is made up of newly hired people who live in this area," he added.

Burns' supervisory staff includes Robert Pengelly, assistant manager; Harry Nielson, produce department manager; and Billy Newman, meat department manager.

Pengelly started working for Safeway in 1941 as a part-timer in Martinez while attending school there. He left the company in 1946 when the store in which he was working was permanently closed. He returned to Safeway in 1958, quickly earning promotion to assistant manager of a Berkeley store.

A PURPLE HEART veteran of World War II, in which he achieved the rank of staff sergeant, Pengelly resides in Martinez with his wife, Louise and their three children.

Nielson, a 12-year veteran employee, has for the past seven years been produce department manager of the Albany Safeway store. Prior to that time he was assistant manager for three years.

A bowling enthusiast, Nielson has won many prizes for his prowess on the alleys in and around Richmond where he and his wife, LaVerne, make their home with their two children.

MEAT DEPARTMENT manager Newman, whose two brothers also work for Safeway, brings 15 years of experience to his new assignment. An eight-year employee of Safeway, Newman joined the company after serving four years with the U.S. Navy as a butcher. He most recently managed the meat department in an Oakland Safeway.

Newman and his wife, Geraldine, currently reside in San Leandro with their four children.

The newly hired employees have attended Safeway's food clerk training school in Oakland to learn the Company's policies and procedures for checking out customers' purchases. In addition, they have had several weeks experience in other stores.

All employees underwent special on-the-job training in the new store last week under the direction of Safeway's field training instructor.

CUSTOMERS NEED not fear when it comes to meat buying at Orinda's new Safeway Store. The store will make use of its new electronic meat computer scale, which eliminates all chance of human error in the weighing and pricing of meats. The computer scale may be viewed by customers shopping in the new meat department.

She will have a desk in the store where she will be available Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, for free consultation by customers. Her duties will include assisting with meal planning and food selection and providing information on various products available as well as hints on food preparation.

Young Engineer Develops Swim Pool Heater, Cover

A uniquely successful solar heater for swimming pools has brought a young Orindan widespread fame through a two-page feature story in the May issue of Sunset Magazine.

He is Pierre Pellissier, 28-year-old electronics engineer at the University of California's Radiation Laboratory, who lives at 4 Sol Brae Way with his wife and four children.

His home and the successful pool heater are located on the property of Melvin Jacobus, Pellissier's father-in-law, and the heater is the result of four years' labors and continued improvement.

A 1957 Cal graduate, Pellissier explained, "I am one of those people who can't stand cold water." Because the Jacobus pool is located about 350 feet from the highway, it was not economical to pipe in natural gas in order to heat the pool, he said.

But while Jacobus was attending a convention in Arizona some time ago he heard of research in the solar pool heater field, passed the information along to his young son-in-law and the unique heating system was born.

ALTHOUGH THE heater is still in its crude stages because of the many improvements which have been made, Pellissier noted that his invention manages to keep the pool temperature at between 78 and 80 degrees from June 10 to about September 1.

During recent months, the young Orindan had occasion to read Sunset's book on swimming pool care. On the basis of his heater's success, he disagreed with Sunset's explanation of the solar heating principles and told the magazine's officials.

Realizing that Pellissier was correct, the magazine studied the local resident's methods and featured his story this month.

PELLISSIER ALSO took the opportunity to tell Sunset about another recent invention of his—a chemical pool cover which effectively reduces the loss of pool heat due to evaporation. An article on the chemical appears in the same issue of the magazine.

There is a patent pending on the chemical cover and Pellissier is producing and marketing it through the Timmin Research Corporation, a company he formed in mid March. The chemical cover is available at most pool suppliers throughout California.

The local man explained that the cover spreads a thin film on the surface of the pool and saves about one-third of the gas bill for pools with heaters. If a pool does not have a heater, he said, the cover raises the temperature from eight to ten degrees.

Pellissier stated he does not believe his solar heater is a "patentable" item, and that he developed it just for his own personal enjoyment.

Inland Valley Studies Flight and Outer Space

Mrs. Smith's sixth grade at Inland Valley School is nearing the completion of a science unit on the study of flight and outer space.

Just before Easter the children made Easter bonnets such as they would wear if they took a trip to the moon, Mars, or points further out. The boys concocted fantastic models made from coffee pots, TV tubes, wires, buckets, football helmets suitably covered with various "space" items, etc.

The girls kept the feminine touch by using all of these items and adding a rose or two and some net. The Easter parade was definitely "way out."

THE CHILDREN then chose a committee on which to work, and when the work was completed, they presented a demonstration to the class. On "History of Flight" Linda Rigolfi reported on early planes: Donna Easterly gave the history of planes from the Wright Brothers to World War I; Edward Hudson then presented planes from that time to the present; Robert Fridell told the story of Charles Lindberg and made a chart showing his flight: Philip Larsen told about pursuit planes and Norman Robertson presented military planes. As a group project, they made a mural depicting the history of flight

On "Principles o Flight" John Adams and Linda Watkins presented a report and demonstration on the principle of "lift". Mark Elmore showed the effeects of streamlining by building a wind tunnel with a small motor and propeller mounted inside of a coffee can; Henry Pinney demonstrated the principle of "thrust"; Paul Yriberri reported on various types of flying machines and Jeff Campbell gave a report and demonstration on "gravity".

PETER VAUGHN of the committee on "power" gave an interesting demonstration on the principle of jet and roeket propulsion, along with a group composed of Charles Palatino, Larry Warner, Tommy Trambie and Paul Rigor. They set up a launching pad on the playground and fired a carbon dioxide capsule. Paul Rigor also demonstrated propeller action by building a motor-driven propeller.

"Aviation Control and Operation" was demonstrated by Ken Dickey, Duane Hunter, Roger Law, John Nelson and John Schuman. They built a model airport complete with hangers, runways and model planes.

A DEMONSTRATION on "Earth Satellites" was presented. Patsy Stevenson made a weather balloon out of a balloon, a hairnet, some string and a candy cup, with a toy mouse as passenger. Pamela Mittell constructed a sputnik out of papier-mache, aluminum foil and cocktail toothpicks. Virginia Van Gelder and Linda Pankonin gave reports and showed charts of satellites.

Mimi Leonardo, Steven Thaw, Vernon Young, Patty Bigler and Jeffry Gallagher constructed a mobile of our solar system and also made a three dimensional mural.

Robert Maccario, Cathy Rogers, Julie Messersmith and Dean De Graffenreid constructed a model of the surface of the moon from papier-mache, paint, plaster of Paris and metals. They backed it with a panoramic view of the sky made from black paper sprayed with gilt.

Glorietta Fourth Grade Keeps Busy, Busy, Busy

Open House at Glorietta School was last Thursday and Mrs. Norberg's fourth grade had 100 per cent parent attendance. An original poem of welcome was written for them by Carolyn Wheeler.

"We have been saving for this day
All this work that's on display.
If it's reading read it loud
'Cause of most our work we're very proud."

Wednesday, Mr. Page, a mathematics professor from Illinois, came to visit them. He worked algebra problems with the class.

They are busy this week drawing plans of the "kind of school they would like to go to."

In science they are learning about force and next week Dr. Karplus is going to help them make scales.

They have been collecting wild flowers and putting them into books. Some lovely collections were brought in by Donna Viale, Wendy Ault, Joanne Deahl and Jimmy Schneider.

WHAT'S DOING

Howard Greenhalgh, your Telephone Manager in Orinda

When new lines go up, chances are you'll see telephone men working from trucks or poles with equipment like this. We call it a "cable-lasher" — it wraps the cable to a strong steel supporting strand. We used to do the job by hand, hooking rings around the strand then drawing the cable through them. The idea of a cable-lasher sounds simple enough, yet a lot of technical work went into making it a reality. It was well worth it though, because our cable-lasher saves us lots of time—and it's economies like this that help us give you more for your telephone dollar.

SCIENCE DISPLAY

Employees of the Pacific Telephone Company in cooperation with the Lafayette School PTA have recently completed an organized science display featuring functional models of telephone components and a scale model of Vanguard 1. Comfy Scott and Helen Pangburn listen while Robbie Coleman explains the workings of the satelite. The children are members of the gifted pupil class at Vallecito School. The display traveled among the various schools in the Lafayette School District.

Want Rich Color? Try Hydrangeas!

For a shrub that puts out bigger and better blooms, hydrangeas can't be beat.

If you fail to share such enthusiasm for hydrangeas, the California Association of Nurserymen says you're probably gardening with older shrubs.

You simply couldn't have encountered some of the newer hybrids with their glorious colors. These voluptuous beauties come in shades of scarlet, pink, red, rose and pure white.

And they are always to be found in the lovely shades of blue which attract so much attention.

If pruned heavily in early spring, the large growing types can be maintained at four to five feet. When pruned to the ground, they make a dense, compact three-foot shrub.

Monthly applications of iron sulfate during the blooming period will intensify the color of the blooms. Hydrangeas don't thrive on neglect, which explains why some old plantings fail to put forth their best.

Many of these older shrubs would be better off uprooted and replaced by newer, better varieties.

Select for your new planting of hydrangeas a shaded or semi-shaded spot. We have it from the C.A.N. that hydrangeas grown inland need far more protection from the elements

IT TAKES YEARS of experience to know what kinds of plants will thrive, and which varieties will not do so well. Most homeowners honestly can't tell a good plant from a lemon, but an experienced nurseryman can. Here Dave Calderson of Dave's Nursery in Lafayette is selecting a top flat of plants which will be sure to please whoever plants and cares for them. Calderson is a member of the California Association of Nurserymen and a past president of the local unit.

Many Rare Garden Aids Worthwhile

If you have an eye for the unusual garden, you have plenty to choose from in California. Members of the California Association of Nurserymen can show you a carload of plants that are both different and desirable.

Just for a starter, have you tried the Shrimp Plant? Except where winter is downright unfriendly, you can get a lot of mileage out of this near ever-blooming little evergreen. The flower bracts resemble nothing so much as shrimps — lovely bronzed shrimps with shadings of cream that catch the sunlight and reflect it in warm-toned radiance. If you don't enjoy this one in your garden, don't say we didn't tell you about it.

SO-CALLED Flowering Maple, not a maple at all, but a dwarfish evergreen shrub, will earn its share of double-takes whenever and wherever it's planted. Give it a semi-shaded spot with adequate water and enjoy its summer-long show of orange-to-red, bell-shaped flowers.

It will show some color most of the year in mid winter areas. And its maplelike foliage is nice to look at in the off season. Flowering Maple is an old favorite for pot culture with those who know it.

YOU WON'T pick strawberries from a Strawberry Tree, but you'll harvest a spring-summer crop of urn-shaped white flowers and a summer-fall crop of warty fruit which resemble the strawberry in looks only. The fruit starts out yellow and turns red. And the ornamental effect is enhanced by the fact that flowers and fruit are all showing at the same time.

Mulching Has Double Purpose

Mulching serves the double purpose in California gardens of keeping soil moist and keeping weeds down.

With a manure mulch, there is also the added benefit of a slight dividend of food. Don't be skimpy with mulches.

Layer peat moss or manure two to three inches thick around moisture loving plants.

Do this before you go on vacation, and the need for loving care during your absence is diminished considerably.

Sun Home and Garden

Ferns Are Rated Summer Specials

Ferns are summer specials in California, and where the gardener can give them proper shade, moisture and rich, loose soil (the more leaf mold the better), he is sure to know success with them.

Your C.A.N. nurseryman can show you several varieties.

Use them with other shade loving plants such as begonias and cineraria for extra special effects.

SPEED

Nearly one million American men, women and children were injured or killed last year because an automobile driver exceeded the speed limit.

May Care of Roses Will Give Grower Easy Days

The rose is the most universally beloved flower. You don't have to look far for the reasons—glorious burst of bloom in spring and fall with scattered blossoms in between; richness in color, form and fragrance; and adaptability to extremes.

In May, if the gardener will take care of the few basic needs of his roses, he can look forward to a lazy summer so far as his rose garden is concerned.

THIS IS the time to apply a rather heavy mulch on rose beds in anticipation of a long, dry summer. Besides conserving moisture, mulching will aid in controlling weeds. Mulches of peat moss and manure have been most popular for use on roses. The mulch should be distributed to a depth of two to three inches evenly around the plants. Before spreading, all weeds should be removed, and the soil raked lightly.

Roses require large amounts of water. Now that April showers are over, a regular irrigation program is necessary to insure good blooms. Slow moving water will seep into the soil. It should be allowed to penetrate from 8 to 12 inches.

A strategic system of ditches for irrigating, and circular troughs or basins around the base of each plant will aid from standpoint of saving water and effort.

IN OUR golden state, roses can stand more fertilization than in other parts of the country because of the long, favorable growing season. The C.A.N. stresses frequent, small feedings rather than larger doses applied less often.

Carefully follow the instructions on the fertilizer package before applying, as they vary with different formulations.

When it comes to spraying, the rosarian knows that at the very first signs of trouble, he should act promptly. If caught in the early stages, aphids and other pesky insects are easier to control. The same applies to rust, mildew and diseases which attack the rose garden.

If necessary, spray in May! Your nurseryman will help you select the most effective control for the particular symptoms of your roses. And be certain to spray up as well as down. The undersurface of foliage can be a breeding spot for trouble. The rose is surely worth the little effort it takes to give it adequate care.

Tuberous Begoni Seedlings Can Be Had at Nurseries

These are items for gardeners to check this week:

Tuberous begonia seedlings are now in stock at local nurseries displaying the green and white emblem of the California Association of Nurserymen.

Don't try for long stems on your first roses by cutting back too far when picking early blooms. Develop the plant by leaving as much of the leaf surface as possible.

Spring flowering deciduous shrubs such as spiraea, philadelphus (syringa), weigelia and forsythia make a better show if they're pruned when finished flowering.

When transplanting annuals from nursery flats, let them get a good start—then pinch out the tops to encourage branching and added bloom. Exceptions to this rule are column stocks and asters, now available.

There is still time to plant dahlias and gladiolus bulbs. Ask your C.A.N. nurseryman about dusting bulbs to protect them from insects, fungus; and about soil additions which can promote bigger and better blooms.

SPEED

A study compiled by The Travelers Insurance Companies shows that speed was responsible for 12,980 traffic deaths in 1960 more than 43 per cent of the total.

Parties, Colleges Occupy Minds of Most Seniors

By JULE' NOLLER

A variety show was presented today during noon at Miramonte. Emceeing and also singing in the production were the "Trinidads" (Bob Davis, Charlie Blue and Rollin Mack).

Back from their success in the Junior Assembly were Tina Cole and Tom Ferguson, with a new Mike and Elaine-type routine.

Bob Newman, Jeff Neighbor, Butch Guarneri and Don Minor, the M.J.Q. (Miramonte Jazz Quartet) also blew a few numbers during the show. Mr. Franceschini, the mechanical drawing teacher, made quite a hit by singing a few folksongs at the assembly with his guitar.

The parent-student Senior All Night Committee held another meeting on May 2. It was decided to set Monday as the deadline for late-comers to pay their $12.50 for the party. This also is for the seniors who used to go to Miramonte that want to attend.

Earl "Fatha" Hines' Dixieland band has been booked as part of the entertainment for the party. Fred Guarneri, who is in charge of entertainment, has also booked a band for dancing and is now looking for a singing group or other professional entertainment for the evening.

Mrs. John McCosker has hired a caricaturist to draw pictures of the seniors during the party. Some of the other activities planned for the evening are fortune telling, student entertainment and bingo with prizes such as $25 bank accounts and free dinners.

Judy Ageno, Dave, Dail, Milt Howe, Punky Geisler, Jim Boyd, Jim Botto and Suzie Lahti represented the senior class at the meeting.

The junior class at Miramonte sponsored a car wash at Mike Lynn's restaurant Saturday to raise money for their class treasury. Working hard on the cars during the day were: Tom Ferguson, president of the class, Holly O'Hara, Joyce Fagliano, Cathy Price, Sam Kielly and Bonnie Boyd.

With graduation around the corner, most of the seniors are all set on which college they're heading for. Some of the big group signed up at Cal are Marilyn Cook, Noel Jones, Dave Dail and Al Nilmeir Rooting for the Cal Aggies at Davis next year will be Bill Brown, Linda Williams and Charlie Blue.

Going south to the U.C.L.A. campus are Pat Flint, Sylvia Bolman, and Suzie Lahti. At the Santa Barbara campus will be Norita Jones, Peggy Schevill, Judy Hopkins, Kathie Calhoun and Nancy Grah. Also heading southward are Dana Cook, who will be going to Pomona and Michele Angelo, who will be going to Scripps.

It looks as though Ruth Thompson claims the title of being the only Miramonte senior to be accepted at Stanford this year!—Quite an honor, too!

Spreading out over Oregon will be Hilary Brown at Reed, Frank Feldman at Oregon State and the "Bobsey Twins" (Carol McChesney and Sally Spott), with Carol going to Willamette and Sally going to Whitman College. Mickey Wilbur will bring honors to Miramonte by attending MIT next fall.

Following the skiiers to Aspen next winter will be Lonnie Anderson and Jack Hughes who plan to attend the University of Colorado. Quite a bunch of Miramonte girls have plans for the University of Arizona. They are Pam Kitt, Kathy Shurtleff, Barb Champion, Nancy Gosch and Marty DeMaer.

Butch Guarneri and Jeff Neighbor will probably be swinging in another combo together next year, since they both will be going to the University of Southern California.

Local Resident Talks at Meeting

Frank T. Eggertsen, 21 Daryl Drive, research chemist for the Shell Development Company, presented a technical paper to a Detroit convention this week.

The paper, "Analytical Distillation by Gas Chromatography," was delivered before an analytical research section at the 25th Mid-year meeting of the American Petroleum Institute's division of refining.

Eggertsen served as co-author on the paper with S. Groennings, 23 Via Hermosa, and J. J. Holst of Alameda.

Reverend Calavan Flies To Alaska for Two Weeks

Reverend C. Corwin Calavan, rector at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Orinda, is on a two-week trip to Alaska. He is conducting two schools of prayer for Bishop William Gordon.

One will be held at Seward and one at Petersburg. They are the annual district women's meetings and each will last three days.

The prayer schools have been scheduled since last October, but because of transportation problems during the winter, they must be held after the spring thaw. Most transportation of the area Rev. Calavan is visiting is by plane and boat.

HE IS traveling at times in the "Blue Box," the Bishop's plane which was purchased by offerings from women five years ago.

Piloting Rev. Calavan is Rev. Murray Trelease, who was graduated from Church Divinity School of the Pacific. Rev. Trelease was a pilot during World War II.

Rev. Calavan will visit four other Alaska towns in Ketchikan, Wrangall, Juneau and Anchorage he will speak to women in the afternoons, and hold evening prayer and spiritual healing for both men and women in the evenings.

HE EXPECTS to remain at each town one or two days, except for the prayer schools which will take place on the two weekends.

Rev. Calavan will renew acquaintance with Reverend Cameron Harriott at Ketchikan, with whom he attended seminary, and with Reverend Malcolm Miner in Anchorage, formerly of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in East Oakland.

The Alaska opportunity came to Rev. Calavan as a result of the work he did at the Hood Conference in Washington, D. C., last summer. Two years ago Rev. Calavan and his wife, Frances, spent 10 weeks in the Holy Land, but the family remained at home this time.

Local Patios Are Feature Topics For Periodical

Two Orinda residents are cited in the May issue of Sunset Magazine for improvements they have made on their home patios.

The magazine has a picture feature on a screened lanai at the home of Roger L. Bond, 120 Las Vegas Road. The lanai, according to the story, makes the home more livable on hot summer days.

A two-page article, complete with pictures and working drawings, highlights an unusual but functional fire pit designed and built by Raymond C. Horne for his home at 27 Rheem Boulevard.

Maybe We Could Hire Local Bodies Cheaper....?

We understand that a good many important things are done in Washington, D.C., and that if we aren't right on our toes, we'll miss a lot of the goodies that are being passed out by that cornucopia, the federal government.

At least that is the way it would appear when you look at the list of Contra Costa County officials who are taking flight to appear in that city this month.

Going back to fight for water—and more water—are Tom Carlson, Contra Costa County Water Agency counsel; W. J. O'Connell, county water consultant, State Senator George Miller and Supervisor Mel Nielsen.

NIELSEN IS DOING double duty though. He also appears on the roster of officials going to fight for the location of the veterans administration hospital in Martinez.

This group includes, besides Nielsen, County Medical Director Dr. George Degnan, Jack Fries, former mayor of Martinez, and George Gordon, an attorney.

Well! We have a question to ask about the theory of influencing federal government committees.

Are you supposed to walk into a hearing with a whole crew of people . . . a vast delegation . . . to make an impression on the committee, or are you supposed to just send one or two spokesmen?

If the former is the case, we have a suggestion to offer. Why not authorize Representative John Baldwin to hire a crowd of local Washington, D.C. residents for a fair price—say $2 per hour—to act as a "delegation" for us. It would be a lot cheaper, and it should really impress the committee when 50 or 60 "Californians" show up.

WE COULD SORT of hire them as "bodies" to represent us.

But obviously, these local gentlemen of ours are going to Washington on serious business. Both the Delta Water situation and the hospital are important to us.

But we can't help wonder when we see these delegations if it is necessary for so many people to make the trips . . . if they aren't actually "junkets" for some of the participants.

We remember not too long ago when the Contra Costa Housing Authority Commissioners . . . and some of the staff members, as revealed by The Sun, were taking trips all over the country.

Most of these trips were later proven to be entirely unnecessary and the commissioners had to repay the public funds they had used after all this was pointed out by The Sun.

Thus, this junketing business is not limited to our county government, but also applies to some of our other governmental subdivisions.

"If Jane had only stopped telling me how to drive . . ."

When anger grips the wheel, safety slips away! If a backseat driver raises your temper to the boiling point, hold on! Showing your critic just who's running things can be dangerous. 37,000 people died on our highways last year. Many were victims of drivers who, in one thoughtless moment, allowed their emotions to take over. So keep your head . . . losing it could cost you your life!

Deer Me, a Rea Problem!

What happens when an immovable object meets an irresistible force?

No one knows, for sure, but we can suggest what happens when two forces, which are neither immovable nor irresistible, meet.

The two forces of which we are speaking are an animal and an automobile.

The possibilities include:

1. The death of the animal.

2. The injury or death of the occupants of the car, caused by collision with the animal.

3. THE ESCAPE of the animal, and the death or injury of the automobile occupants caused by that vehicle striking another vehicle or embankment, or tree or telephone pole in an effort to avoid the animal.

So all this is common sense, and why are we wasting our time talking about it? Because, just in this past two weeks, one local resident was killed when he collided with a deer (he was on a motorcycle) and another was injured when she tried to avoid a deer (futilely) and overturned car car in a ditch.

LET'S FACE IT! We still live in the country, and we're proud of it. But our winding country roads are the natural habitat of deer, and in many cases you will find a horse or a small steer wandering down your side of the road.

Naturally nobody wants to injure or kill and animal . . . especially with an automobile, which was not constructed for the purpose. But if your health or life is at stake, it is better to hit the animal than to hurt or kill yourself or your passengers.

Or the people in the other car, when you swerve onto their side of the road.

Deer are plentiful animals, but they are pretty solid, too. And when you hit 80 pounds of deer and you're going 50 miles per hour, somebody is going to get hurt.

It is not pleasant to say, but if you have a choice between hitting the animal (even a dog) and swerving and causing injury to yourself and possibly someone else, just go ahead and hit the animal.

THIS IS NO FUN. But we live in the country, and this is one of the things we have to face.

Oh yes, one other thing. Drive pretty carefully around those back roads. The deer don't know how fast you're going, and they don't want to cause an accident.

Something For The Home

Rabbi Julius Mark noted at the White House Conference on Children and Youth recently that the chief cause of juvenile delinquency comes from the home.

And he laid the following guidelines for parents when they raise their children.

It is worthwhile to check them against your own standards, and your own family. Here they are:

"Be loving to your children. Make them feel they are wanted.

"Don't expect impossibilities of your children.

"Never deceive your children. You won't succeed in the deception anyway.

"KEEP YOUR promises. If it is a reward, give it. If it is punishment, inflict it.

"Correct your children's shortcomings early.

"Never exaggerate the values of material things. Children of the rich are frequently no less unfortunate in later life than are children of the poor.

"DO NOTHING AND say nothing that you would not want your child to do or say.

"Show no favoritism among your children.

"Make your house a home for your children.

"Every home should be a miniature sanctuary, a place in which the very atmosphere is surcharged by reverence with God."

The Staff Corner

...A Place for Everything

By CONNIE PIKE

It used to be that there was a place for everything and everything stayed pretty well in its place. Teachers went to school and taught, doctors took care of the sick, fathers went to work and mothers stayed home and kept house.

Every day Mother washed and brushed the children and sent them off to school where a grey-haired, be-spectacled teacher forced as much information into them as possible. She restricted herself to such subjects as language, arithmetic and geography.

In the quiet hours while they were gone, thankful mothers cleaned and polished and baked, and cooked hearty dinners. The children came home, played outside awhile, and came in to a wonderful aroma of roasting meat or bubbling stew.

AFTER DINNER the children did their homework ALL BY THEMSELVES, and when darkness came, they went to bed.

A little later, so did their parents.

When the children had colds Mother tucked them into bed and put warm flannel strips around their necks. In a day or two they were back in school.

When a real illness struck, the doctor came and stuffed funny-tasting medicines into them. With communicable diseases, there was the importance of a quarantine sign on the door when other children going by gave the house a wide berth, and starred at the sign in awe.

MUSIC LESSONS were given by a music teacher. Piano practice was a duty, rewarded at the end of the year when the children were allowed to dress up and play some little piece at the high school auditorium. A really big event.

Not so nowadays. These individual, clearly-defined areas have blended into one large blur, like a too-wet watercolor. Housewives keep school while teachers go to luncheons, and sit on the health council. Teachers go to conferences and attempt to teach the "whole" child. Doctors help to run the town and fathers coach little league baseball.

Mother is a chauffeur, a hostess, a model, an expert bridge player. She doesn't have time for cleaning house and baking—a housecleaning service does the floors, and dinner comes pre-cooked from the freezer or the delicatessen.

WELL, IN THAT other life there was order. With home, school, church, music and playtime, children knew what to do, how and where to do it.

Summers were blazing hot and in the winter, the snow was white and deep and cold. Of course, we all walked two miles through the driven snow to school. Maybe it wasn't really two miles. Maybe our legs were just shorter.

Red was red then. Not vermillion or shocking pink or Pago Pago peach. And green was green instead of chartreuse or lime or moss. There was something satisfying about that.

You can't stop change and progress, and we wouldn't want to. But do you ever think maybe—just maybe, we've lost something of value?

We Like It Here...

Hits, Mitts & Balls & Bats in our Belfry . . .!

By MARIE MONAHAN

WE ARE warming up for the Baseball season . . . & we play a "good game."

It's simply a case of "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em!"

So we read the sporting green & smile out of the side of our mouth.

We start stirring up supper in the middle of the afternoon so that we can stoke the sportsters early enough to get them IN from the neighborhood field fracas & on & off to the Little League practice.

It won't be long before the whole family is suffering a severe case of indigestion. When we all have to dig out fast for the official games.

WE SERVE Sunday meals on trays so that the male members of the family can have their TV ball games uninterrupted.

It's a disease! The two Willies, Mays & McCovey, are standard household words & we will wind up an authority on batting averages & knuckle-balls whether we want to or not.

Standard household equipment these days are the willow sticks — sitting right outside the door, flung underfoot on the floor — or like last Sunday, slung across the sofa right on top of our best Sunday hat.

Frankly, we are going BATS over bats!

Everytime we reach for the doorknob, there hangs a mitt. When we sit down to a meal, the glove sits right down with us. Grimey & gritty & smelling NOT so sweet!

WHEN we kiss the children goodnight, something comes between us — the cold feel of a face-full of dank leather greets us in the dark. "It's getting broken in, Mom . . . SEE?"

We even invested in a new mitt.

It seems the old ones around the house were "Kid's stuff"—"They got no pocket?"

We only hope we do not have to invest in a new picture window — $100 worth of pure plate glass.

YOU SEE, the big window, in early evening, makes a wonderful practice area for the little pitcher in our house. He winds up. He gets that old ball in his Old Pro paddy & round & round he swings his arm.

"Boy, what a beaut!" says he. He sees his reflection & the kind of curved ball he's just imagined he's thrown. (Someday he may forget & let GO that ball!)

But it doesn't help to yelp. We have three strikes against us. It's like talking to a blank wall. We just bury ourselves in the sports page headlines, waiting for the expectant crash. Kind of kidding ourselves that this is another Orlando Cepeda — or Mike McCormick. Even BABE RUTH!

ANYHOW . . . we invested in this new mitt. The best one in the dime store. FIVE Bucks in plenty for an 8-year-old. Pretty fancy for a dime store.

WHEN our oldest boy started Little League, it didn't cost a dime. Just a new mitt he earned the money for selling oak-leaf mulch.

But inflation has hit the hardwood world . . . What with being organized into 600 strong (sons & fathers) the insurance in case your kid gets a cracked tooth, the uniforms & equipment, it's up to $4.00.

We are insured ourselves. So is Home Plate. We're covering all bases.

There's no crack in the picture window yet.

But we wouldn't want to make a bet on it. Would YOU?

RESPONSIBILITY

Dear Editor:

If exercising our prerogatives are parents (parents, not buddies, although we are incidentally having a ball with our five sons), if taking a position of authority with them if they are not quite old enough or wise enough (and who wants to draw that fine line) to have the discernment and judgment necessary in making choices which may become life-long habits, if caring who their friends and associates are and what are their friends' character traits, if being concerned about the way they spend their leisure time to the point of regulating this when necessary, if wanting to expose them thoroughly to the person and nature of God through their church and its activities so that they will, with us, develop a love and a reverence for Him which will give discernment and moral courage as fringe benefits, if loving them so much that they know they will be hurting not only themselves but us if they cheat, lie, deceive, cultivate habits that are harmful to their health, if possessing all of these old-fashioned characteristics as parents is damaging to our sons' assorted ids and egos, then we are emphatically providing much grist for future mills of psychiatry.

The high school student who wrote the letter printed in Dick Osborn's editorial on teen-age drinking last week is right: It is not the responsibility of the Acalanes school district "to entertain and keep the kids off the street at night" (nor should they be held responsible if students have access to liquor and there is drinking going on in or out of school) and the letter-writer is also correct in stating that "it is about time the parents helped their children to use their time wisely."

We are becoming increasingly aware of a shattering fact: Many parents are afraid of their children!

This is not a fear of bodily harm which might come to them if they exercise parental authority in love, but a fear that Johnny or Mary will not be "happy," "popular," "well-integrated" or that they will be too inhibited (?), "different," unsophisticated, and so a typical bridge-luncheon conversation revolves around how to go about teaching Johnny and Mary to hold their liquor, and other allied points of etiquette.

MRS. MARK VALORY.

Letters to The Editor

TAXES

Dear Editor:

(The following letter was addressed to J. P. McBrien, county administrator, and a copy was sent to The Sun. It is as follows.)

Thank you for your letter of May 3rd which was a reply for Supervisor Mel Nielsen to my letter of April 20 about cutting the budget.

I am aware of the fact that the Supervisors do not have control of all the taxing districts that make up the total tax rate, however, they do have control of 42.5 per cent of my tax bill of $840.24 which I have just paid —and that bill is still a 54 per cent increase over what I paid when I moved into my present home eight years ago — for which I can note no additional services that I receive.

You say the Supervisors always cut where they can—this would seem to indicate that they are ham strung someway since the taxes consistently go up. Evidently the new people moving into the area do not pay their share of the increased demand for services that you mention—and that older residents pay a good share for them.

I am not familiar with what in detail makes up the $2.28 county rate to suggest where to cut, except I feel sure that a substantial cut could be made in the welfare part of it.

It is my understanding that the welfare department takes up a goodly portion of this $2.28. To give an idea of what might be done in that area I enclose a clipping from the Wall Street Journal of a few days ago—either May 2nd or 3rd. This tells how some Oregon counties are cutting their costs (and weeding out some of the undeserving and dead-beats) by insisting that all their physically able welfare recipients do some work for the county.

I have not seen any publicity of any effort along this line—or other lines—to cut down on welfare costs.

I am also disturbed by an article of April 28 quoting the county assessor, C. L. Dunklee, that he was making only a flat 10 per cent increase in assessments in certain areas of the county and that the increase should be 20 per cent and he protested a protest of the Contra Costa Farm Bureau. He also stated that it was only the agriculturists that were protesting. Well I'm not an agriculturist and I herewith protest. I protest even though I'm not sure it will affect my tax rate.

Copy of this letter is going to Supervisor Nielsen and also to The Sun.

CLIFFORD C. REA
Orinda, Calif.

MIRAMONTE

Dear Editor:

I am one of the 15 or more parents, fathers as well as mothers, who attended the meeting at Dr. Ralph Hall's home last week to discuss the existing situation at Miramonte High School in Orinda.

I was invited by a neighbor and asked to invite anyone I wished who was interested in coming.

The article in your paper did not mention many of the things that were discussed that evening and seemed to emphasize that personalities were discussed.

This was not so. Student government, curriculum for students not wishing or being able to attend college, the morale of the school in general, school spirit, parent-teacher relationship and many other subjects were discussed.

There were parents of children having trouble in school as well as parents of children receiving college-recommending grades at the meeting.

We were all there in an attempt to put our problems before the school administrators in a constructive way.

It is evident from the unrest of many Orinda parents and students that some changes are needed and it is my sincere desire that Mr. Neil Parson, superintendent of Acalanes Union High School District and the school board of trustees will give this matter their serious consideration.

MRS. H. M. OLSON.

COOPERATION

Dear Editor:

Please accept my sincerest thanks and gratitude for the cooperation you have extended to me during my term as Mayor.

I have attempted during my term of office to insure that the lines of communication between the City Council and the people were improved by always keeping the press informed of all activities.

FARRY GRANZOTTO, Mayor
City of Walnut Creek

If You Like Gossip, Read These Daring Revelations

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Have you ever wanted to be a Walter Winchell? Wouldn't it be fun to be a man-about-town like Herb Caen?

Frankly, I've never really had the urge. Moreover, I well remember a gossip-type column The Sun ran 10 years ago—and the headaches it produced. But today I think it might be fun, for one time, to do a gossip column —and let the chips fall where they may.

Food for thought . . .

The BTO columnists always yak about the night spots, so I'll start there.

Newish restaurants are always news. Kellogg's continues to draw raves for $2 steaks. Dinner around their swimming pool this summer should be an added magnet . . . Lots of people tasting the tasty decor at The Red Mill, formerly El Nido. Jay Bedsworth did a tremendous job redecorating but is still having problems getting the food and service to his satisfaction . . . Danny van Allen's new French lunches are tooooo big . . . Note that Danny is painting the outside of the building.

Milt Nelson's Gold Nugget in Concord has closed. Does this kill the rumor that Milt is taking over Gaslight House? Nother rumor: that Ricks is going to reopen The Net.

(Gosh, a good gossiper should have some scandal about this time! Most of our suburbanites are too busy raising gardens and kids to get in trouble, or head to the divorce court. Oh, here's one . . .)

And it's true, too

What wife of what merchant is being very understanding about his romance with the lovely sales gal? Said wife is sure he will win this battle against himself . . . Story being passed along the local pubs—that a local newsman (not The Sun) had a parking ticket fixed . . . What local publisher was given a ticket in San Francisco Monday morning? (ME, darn it, for parking on Mission Street before 10 a.m.)

SIGN OF THE WEEK: Ad for Purr Cat Food: "The CATillac of Pet Fool."

More catty talk: What school administrator (Lafayette) has been promoting and recruiting for an anti-Catholic organization—and right in the school district, too! This has brought frowns from everyone, except those in authority.

Quiz time . . .

What ever happened to the promised "short 18 hole" golf course? The sign says "Casa Blanca Golf Course." It was formerly the Meadowbrook Course, or should I mention that unhappy deal? Another sports question: How soon will the Giants management learn how to properly use their radiant heating system—or increase the capacity?

Had three calls from people who are interested in checking to see if bids are called for furnishing baseball equipment to the Lafayette junior baseball teams.

Let's name names . . .

Fred Maisel returned last week from, what he described as, a "bumming trip through Mexico." Mrs. M., a teacher, is going to get even and go to summer school in Hawaii . . . Ditto back from Mexico are Dr. and Mrs. Morrie Collen and two kids . . . Expecting No. 4 are Barbara and Sam Goldeen . . . If you have any complaints about tearing out the tracks from the lower deck of the Bay Bridge, see your neighbor Art Weisberg. His company is doing the work . . . You think you have it tough commuting? John McKirahan travels 53 miles to Sunnyvale each day—and back, too . . . Mr. and Mrs. Bill Eldridge spent a recent week of their vacation playing golf every day—and it rained two of the days . . .

Newly-married Sun Want Ad Manager Lynne Grace, a blonde doll, is retiring to keep the home fires burning. A red-head doll, Betsy Matlock, will take over.

Rough riders ride again

Many people for many years have been asking the county to push Newell Avenue through to Reliez Station Road. But a few people aren't waiting. They simply drive over the Sacramento-Northern road bed!

The Dramateurs, local thespians, have voted to end all cast parties at 3 a.m. But don't raise that eyebrow; their parties begin at midnight, after the play . . . Rheem Center promises to be an Entertainment Center, with the movie, 2 restaurant-bars, Carroll's pitch and putt course and swim club and Don Rheem's new bowling alley . . . And if you haven't driven out through Moraga lately, you're missing a beautiful drive . . . ditto through Alamo and Danville and also from Orinda to El Sobrante via San Pablo Dam Road.

Unfortunate, but the Walnut Creek Judicial election (Betsy Rahn vs Joe Longacre) is becoming an increasingly bitter campaign. But this is democracy . . . A most conscientious public official is newly-elected Councilman Bob Nelson, who with his charming wife, faithfully attended many ribbon cuttings and public ceremonies . . .

Business talk . . .

Two new big food marts moving next door to each other and near the new Simons Hardware in Walnut Creek: LORAY MARKET and SID'S . . . Lucky still has two on the drawing boards for Pleasant Hill . . . Safeway opened its lush store, with home economist and all, in Orinda Wednesday . . . incidentally, the big wheels of most of bay area food chains live in our beautiful country . . . Incidentally No. 2: Simon's Hardware will feature shoes (localite Barnard Kaplan's concession) and apparel, as well as liquor, jewelry, nursery stock—and hardware.

Is business good in Orinda? You decide: Orinda Hardware and Lucky Food each opened store No. 2 in Orinda. Sprouse-Reitz and Village Shoe Shop plan to do the same . . . Will the storm break over Safeway officials for the big sign erected in Orinda? Will another community-wide battle burst over the latest Orinda Pinegrove plan? Tune in next week . . .

Here's some last minute scandal: what local businessman was seen kissing his attractive brunette assistant yesterday in his office?

The answer: me, kissing Eleanor. Or was it vice versa?

John Hays Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Virginia Fry became the bride of John Westphal Hays at a double ring ceremony on April 16 at St. Luke's Methodist Church, Richmond. Reverend Gerald R. Lowe officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Durward Fry of Richmond and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hays of Lafayette.

For her wedding, the bride wore a long sleeved floor length gown of nylon chiffon. The soft folds of the scoop neckline were circled by a band of Alencon lace and the skirt was detailed with two panels of chiffon that formed a soft draped effect in back. A crown of orange blossoms held her veil of silk illusion and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and white roses.

Patricia Benton, maid of honor, wore a powder blue dress with a bodice of contrasting white lace. The bridesmaids wore powder blue lace cotton dresses with powder blue bandeaus which held their face length veils. The bridal attendants carried nosegays of white carnations with touches of matching blue.

Marilyn McKenna, Minette McEvoy and Ann Malella were the bridesmaids. William Wolfenden was best man and the ushers were William Hays, brother of the groom, Frank Jordan and James Westphal.

A gown of willow green silk shantung with matching hat and beige accessories was the ensemble worn by the bride's mother. The bridegroom's mother chose a gown of green muted print silk, fashioned in a sheath, with bone accessories.

Two hundred guests attended the reception, held in the Bermuda Room of Richmond Memorial Auditorium. After a wedding trip to Ensenada, the couple plan to make their home at 23 Seward Street, San Francisco.

The slides showed the way the people of Pakistan live, their huts, the markets, their carts and their donkeys. Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Harold Hill modeled costumes worn by the women of Pakistan.

Program chairman was Harold Hill. Decorations which consisted of bouquets of iris and other spring flowers were arranged by Flora Thompson, chairman; Doris Loveridge, Vivian ohnson and Mansuetta Slater.

Dental Auxiliary Plans Get Acquainted Tea

The most important event of the season is coming up for the new Women's Auxiliary of the Contra Costa Dental Society. On Tuesday at 1:30 the dental wives will hold a get-acquainted tea at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Hermann in Lafayette.

The purpose of the tea is to invite every eligible woman in the county to membership and to install the auxiliary's new officers.

The chairman for the affair is Mrs. Frank Thomas of Walnut Creek who has decided to follow an early American theme, which is especially appropriate as Mrs. Hermann's home is early American inside and outside.

A redwood plank table covered with a bright checkered cloth will be set up on the patio. Ironstone pots will replace a tea service and shining copper trays and bowls will be used. Mrs. Lee R. Winters is decorations chairman. Mrs. M. B. Catledge and Mrs. Bill J. Harris will pour.

In a garden setting beside the pool Mrs. William Sheeran will act as the installing officer. Each new officer will be crisply costumed in white and as Mrs. Sheeran introduces them she will present them with a dainty nosegay of garden flowers.

After being installed, Mrs. Ellis will present her committee heads. Legislative, Mrs. K. G. Holcombe; reception, Mrs. Burton Press; membership, Mrs. Allen Lagier; philanthropic, Mrs. B. F. Pridgen; ways and means, Mrs. Charles Evans; Dental Health, Mrs. Cal Herring; Publicity, Mrs. David S. Tittle; reservations, Mrs. Lyall O. Bishop, decorations, Mrs. James Trezona; program, Mrs. Ronald G. Light.

Reservations and tickets for the affair may be secured from the co-chairman, Mrs. J. M. Evans Jr. of 16 Altarinda Drive, Orinda.

The door committee is headed by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cummins of Orinda. Among those assisting them will be Mrs. C. O. Ford of Orinda, Mrs. William E. Gordon of Walnut Creek and Mrs. Robert B. Mechel of Piedmont.

In June, instead of a regular business meeting, the group will have a social luncheon and swimming party at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Crain.

The next meeting will be held on May 19 at the home of Mrs. Lloyd King, 2753 San Antonio Drive, Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Stanley Kwiat, a Talented Woman

Family, Art, Service, Fill Her Days With Happiness

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Surrounded with creative beauty in the lovely setting of her old style Spanish country home, Mrs. Stanley Kwiat of Vernie Lane, Alamo, glows with enthusiasm and inner radiance that outshines even her most outstanding paintings.

Granddaughter of the former governor of Chihuahua, Mary Kwiat missed being born in Mexico by three days. Actually she is a native daughter, who was born in Los Angeles and has lived in the Bay area since 1937.

Her Mexican background influences much of her art work and the decor of her home, even the names of her two youngest children, Lalo, 7, who is a first grade student at Stone Valley School and Nino, 5. Nino will enter kindergarten in September and his mother said, "We are both impatiently waiting the day!"

A young, young, grandmother, Mrs. Kwiat has two other children, Peggy, 22, and Frankie, 20. Both are married and living in Vallejo. Peggy and her husband have two children, Jeff a year and a half and Laurie, 4 months.

"All my life I have wanted to be an artist," Mrs. Kwiat related, "but my mother said that all artists starve and insisted that I have some training to equip me for the world of business.

"Consequently I was trained in IBM work and tabulating. Most of my experience was with the military and during the war I was a supervisor at the Benicia Arsenal."

After her marriage to Stanley Kwiat, methods and planning supervisor with Cal Farm Insurance Company, Mrs. Kwiat renewed her interest in art while the couple was living for a time in Chicago. "I've always sort of piddled around in art, but while we were living on the gold coast which is very 'arty' I began to do sketches, sometimes from the kitchen window."

While living in Vallejo, Mrs. Kwiat seriously studied art and began to paint. She works usually with gouache or water colors, although sometimes she uses oils.

Her work has been exhibited in many places, but the juried shows where her work has been displayed include the Auburn Art Festival, Diablo Pageant of Arts and Macy's.

Calling herself, "just an interested bystander these days," Mrs. Wwiat served on the board of directors of the Diablo Pageant of Arts for two years, has been ways and means chairman, exhibit chairman, and as she says, "every year I have done something for them in the administrative field.

"This is the first year that I haven't actually done anything, although I am still working in the background." With Mrs. Evadne Wenker, Mrs. Kwiat was an "unofficial" sponsor for several artists and was instrumental in getting their work in exhibits.

The reason Mrs. Kwiat has taken a less active part in the Pageant of Arts this year is not widely known, but certainly deserving of recognition. She served as the Danville area chairman for the Cancer Crusade.

Of the hours of time, effort, and rushing hither and yon, she gaily remarked, "I really enjoy doing this. When I am doing something for someone else I seem to have wonderful luck. The response was excellent."

The Kwiats moved to Alamo from Walnut Creek last year. Mrs. Kwiat commented that before her work with the cancer crusade she hardly knew anyone. "Now," she exclaimed, "I feel I know nearly everyone and am reasonably informed about things in our area."

Devotion to her work for cancer holds a very personal reason for Mary Kwiat who last fall lost a dear friend because of this disease. "It was heartbreaking," she recalled, "to watch someone slowly and painfully dwindle away, when all anyone could do was to hope and pray that something would be discovered in time to save her life.

"If money can help hasten the day of discovery that will mean the saving of other lives, then I will do anything I can to help raise that money. Anyone who has not yet given to cancer may mail a donation to the American Cancer Society, in care of the Postmaster, Walnut Creek Post Office."

Home life is happiness for the Kwiats, who love to entertain at home. As a family they like to take short trips, and sometimes longer ones to visit friends and family in San Diego and Mexico.

"We have fabulous plans for our home," she said, "and are planning to landscape in the early Mexican country home theme."

Two pets, dearly beloved "Pretty Boy," a long suffering, patient cat whose one time beauty is now rather questionable and Sukey, a three month old German Shepherd pup complete the Kwiat family.

May Rains Help Fairway Grass At Round Hill

Early May rains have proved a boon to Round Hill Country Club in speeding seeding sprouting, according to resident manager Ray McCoy, who reports the gentle downpours have brought the fairway grass up early on the Alamo course.

The last of the greens will be seeded this week and the target date for the opening of the new country club is September 1.

Stating the course will be seeded from tee to green, McCoy will use Seaside bent on the greens and a mixture of blue, fescue and Highland bent on the fairways. Twenty-six thousand pounds of grass seed have been sowed on the new course.

Pleasant Hill Loses 11-2 Game To Diablo Devils

The Pittsburg Pirates lowered the boom on the Pleasant Hill Rams last Thursday as they won an 11-2 ball game.

The Rams, playing at home, scored both their runs in the fourth with Dave Sheperd doing the damage with a home run drive down the right field foul line that scored Fred Lucero ahead of him. Lucero reached first on an error.

The Rams wound up with but three hits with Ron Beardslee hitting a single to right center and Don Dameral's infield single in the seventh being the only other safe Ram blows.

Milt Howe (left) was second in the 880 to Jeff Neighbor (right), as the Miramonte team dominated only the one event. The Mats will be out to try for a few more points this afternoon at the Diablo Valley Athletic League track finals on the Las Lomas oval.

THAT ENDED Piedmont's scoring while Miramonte chalked up two in the final seventh when Brad Peters walked and wound up on third after getting picked off the initial sack only to take advantage of a wild throw in the attempted rundown.

Pinch hitter Pete Yedidia responded with a single to score Peters and went to second on a steal. The bases were plugged when Bob Williams and Jack Gilbert drew walks. Randy Thaman hit a single to score the game's final run as Yedidia scrambled home.

Both hits came in the seventh when Bill Welch and Bob Tonascia hit singles.

Swimming, Baseball Play Also Nearing Year's End

By ERWIN MATTSON

The month of May means that prep sports for the school year 1959-60 are rapidly coming to a close.

Each week now finds championships being determined.

Last week Acalanes won the varsity title in the Foothill Division track meet held at Miramonte High with Piedmont taking Bee honors.

IN THE Contra Costa Division track meet held at Pleasant Hill the Pleasant Hill Rams topped the field in varsity division while Pittsburg walked off with Bee honors.

Swimming found Las Lomas the champion in both varsity and lightweight as they overpowered all comers in the Foothill meet while Mt. Diablo won the varsity swim title with Pleasant Hill the best among the Bee teams.

The coming week finds prep sports on the windup with the state track meet winding it all up late in the month.

ALL EYES today will center on the Diablo alley Athletic League track meet to be held at Las Lomas starting at 2:30 p.m.

This brings together the cream of the crop among the Foothill, Contra Costa and East Bay Divisions. Points will be split more ways and chances are favorites will get dumped so picking a champ is as tough a proposition as betting on a Kentucky Derby winner.

The Pleasant Hill Rams rate the favorite role in the varsity division while the odds on favorite in the Bees are the Pittsburg Pirates, who definitely look to be the class of the field with a good chance to win the North Coast.

IN SWIMMING Las Lomas rates the favorite role as they appear to have too much all around strength for the rest of the teams in the DVAL where the main battle looks to be for the runner-up spot.

The meet will be held at Pleasant Hill today starting at 3:45 p.m.

In Foothill baseball it's still a battle down to the wire with Acalanes and Las Lomas at the top and Miramonte not far behind—in fact close enough that they could still win it all.

League games on tap Tuesday find Miramonte hosting Piedmont, Las Lomas at Acalanes and San Ramon with the bye.

THURSDAY IT'S Acalanes at San Ramon, Piedmont at Las Lomas and Miramonte with the bye.

Play winds up Tuesday, May 24, with Piedmont at Acalanes and Miramonte at San Ramon, with Las Lomas getting the final bye.

Pleasant Hill playing in the Contra Costa Division travels to Clayton Valley next Tuesday and crosses back with Antioch at home next Thursday.

Local Drivers Fail To Place In Top Race Spots

By JEAN McGUIRE

Petaluma's pride and joy, Leroy Geving, drove his little black bomb to victory last week in the main event at Contra Costa Speedway. The stocky blond pilot, who was smashed into the wall on the previous week, now has two big 25 lappers to his credit.

Santa Rosa's Hugh Purdy put up one of the toughest battles of the season to hold onto that number one position, but Geving developed just a little more oomph when it counted.

Coming in third after Purdy, was Gene Dudley of Napa. "Ram Rod" Zanaline was fourth, and Don Moreda came in fifth. Please note that all of these drivers with the exception of Dudley, are from the Santa Rosa area. Local pilots, AWAKE!

Incidentally, Bay Cities Racing Association is taking over the Santa Rosa track starting Sunday. All BCRA drivers will have to race at S. R. on Sundays to keep up their point standings.

Keith Willis of Hayward was the winner of the 15-lap semi main. He was trailed by Nelson Snow of San Pablo, Tom Green of San Francisco, Kenny May of Oakland and George Tietjen, also of Oakland.

Willis also took the final heat. Second was Mel Baker of Sacramento, Wally Baker was third and Ray Travels of Oakland placed fourth.

The fast fourth heat ran as follows, Don Moreda, Hugh Purdy, Ray Travels and Wally Baker.

Ted Gratriex of Napa took the third heat. In the second, the winner was Buzz Ball. After him came Don Brown of Richmond, and Tom Green.

The first heat, which was won by Nelson Snow, was interrupted by one of the most startling flips of the season, Jack McLeod, driving the Paddock Bowl Special number 16, was hit and spun over six times. The driver was unhurt, but the fans were mighty worried for a minute.

The second trophy of his racing career was taken by Nelson Snow.

We wish to express our deepest regrets over the passing of Concord's veteran driver, Hugh Payne. This reporter had the pleasure of giving Hugh his first trophy last year, and he richly deserved it. Racing was a great part of his life. We will all miss Hugh very much.

The latest point standings have just been tallied.

They are as follows: Gene Dudley 149, Leroy Geving 148, Wally Baker 125, Hugh Purdy 123, Don Moreda 112, Ted Gratriex 108, Nelson Snow 95, Ted Montague 83, Rod Zanaline 81, Chet Thomson 80, Joe Neault 70, Julian Castro 69, Jack Huddleston 68, Bob Phillippi 68, Steve Mentch 67, Gil Richardson 65, Larry Damitz 62, Lew Lawson 61, Jack Clayton 59, Keith Willis 56, Tom Green 55, Buzz Castagnetto 51, Bob Deschamps 49, Ray Travels 48, Doug Fowler 43, PeeWee Waybright 43, Hank Alves 40, and Bob Duval 36.

P. H. Mayor Jack Clayton lost ground last week, when he blew his transmission after qualifying close to fast time in the first round.

Tomorrow night's card holds a 25-lap main event. Time trials at 7:15, first race 8 p.m.

Mat Netters Tie for Lead With Two Match Victories

The Miramonte Matadors won a pair of league matches last week to wind up in a tie with Acalanes for the Foothill dual meet title.

They dropped Piedmont on Wednesday, 6-1, and nailed San Ramon on Thursday, 7-0, playing both matches on the Orinda courts.

PIEDMONT match results were as follows:

Parkmead Bows To Pleasant Hill

The Pleasant Hill Intermediate 8th Grade Recreation team traveled to Parkmead this last Friday and came home with a pair of victories in the A and B games. The score of the A game was 5-2 and the B game was 8-2.

Mark Perrin turned in outstanding pitching duties allowing only one hit, walking two men and striking out seven. Leading hitter for Pleasant Hill Intermediate Recreation was Hurley Davis with two hits and three runs batted in.

In the B game John Shinault had little trouble in holding Parkmead to two runs as he allowed only two hits and gave up three walks. Leading hitter for the B team was John Hill with two hits in three times at bat.

Acalanes Downs Las Lomas Nine To Lead League

The Acalanes Dons, playing at the Walnut Creek diamond Tuesday afternoon, won a crucial from the Las Lomas Knights with a 4-2 count.

The Dons posted what proved to be three big runs in the second when with two down Denny Toll and Stew Fox singled to set the stage for Gary Brekke, who swung on the first pitch from the port side to send a drive over the left center field for a home run.

ACALANES hit the scoring column again in the fourth when Toll was safe on an error and reached second when with two down Don Nelson hit a single, John Paul Jones followed with a line drive single to left center to send Toll home.

Las Lomas got their first hit of the game in the fifth when lead-off hitter Bob Samuels blasted the first pitch over the center field fence.

The Knights scored again in the sixth when Rene Brandol received life on an error in which a wild throw from third to first put him on second. Brandol reached third on a fielder's choice and home on a bunt at second on a ground ball off the bat of Jim Murphy.

THE KNIGHTS appeared to be really ready in the final seventh when with two down Carl Just hit a drive to right field that appeared to be good for the circuit.

Las Lomas cheers turned to groans, however, when he was called out to end the game for having failed to touch second.

Acalanes wound up with nine hits with Jones and Toll each having 2 for 4.

Batteries: Acalanes, Strain and Cosso; Las Lomas, Remy and Stephenson.

Knights Rout Foes in Double Swimming Win

It was a red letter day for the Las Lomas swimmers Friday, as competing in their own pool, they swamped the opposition to win varsity and lightweight Foothill Division titles.

Acalanes was a distant second in both divisions.

THE FINAL VARSITY tally gave Las Lomas 120 points, as they won eight first places, Acalanes with the meet's only double winner in Mike Cheney was runner-up with 58 points, Miramonte had 46, San Ramon 45 and Piedmont 4.

Knights Get 3-2 Victory Over Wolves

The Las Lomas Knights pulled the ball game out of the fire in the final inning when they edged the visiting San Ramon Wolves, 3-2, in a game played last week.

San Ramon, scoring single runs in the first and fourth frames, looked to be on their way as they went into the final seventh leading, 2-0, thanks to some tight pitching by the San Ramon nine's Don Collar.

SAN RAMON'S FIRST run came when Bob Daoust doubled and scored on Wayne Forsell's single.

Bob Lang singled in the fourth, reached second and third as he advanced on fielder's choice plays and scored on Barry Madrid's single.

The Knights sewed it up in the seventh as Jim Murphy and Eric Nankevil drove out singles and the bases were loaded when Bob Samuels was safe on a bunt.

DICK COUCH followed with a single to score Murphy and Carl Just was safe when a ground ball got away from the second baseman with Nankevil scoring.

The winning counter came when pitcher Bill Remy won his own ball game with a single to score Samuels with the game winning and game-ending run.

Las Lomas had seven hits and no errors while San Ramon had five hits and one error.

Batteries: Las Lomas, Remy and Stephenson; San Ramon, Collar and Madrid.

The game played at the Pleasant Hill diamond found it a 1-1 ball game as each scored in the fourth inning.

DIABLO SCORED in the top of the inning with the Rams coming back to tie it up when Dave Clark started off with a bunt single.

Lennis Cowell followed with a push bunt past the pitcher to put runners on firest and second. Fred Lucero grounded out third to first with the runners advancing.

The run came when Dave Sheperd hit a drive that bounced off the pitcher's glove and went to the second baseman who threw to first for the out, but in the meantime Clark came home from third.

THE CLUBS were scoreless in the fifth but the roof caved in as far as the Rams were concerned in the sixth. The Diablo club scored four runs on two hits which were coupled with three Ram errors, a hit batter, a walk and a pair of stolen bases—one of which was home.

Neither club scored in the final frame as the Devils wound up on the long end of the 5-1 score.

Diablo played errorless ball and got three hits to the Rams' two. The Rams committed four boots.

The Acalanes winners were Dick Dodge with a 51.7 in the 440-yard run, Tim Scott copped first in the broad jump with a leap of 20-7¼, Dave Dornsife won the shot at 48-11 and John Max won the discus with a heave of 150-7.

THE DONS WON the relay with Chris Rinne, Tony LaRossa, Bruce Dodge and Art Corse stopping the clocks at 1:34.1 for a new meet record.

Chris Rinne set a new time in the 220 trials on Thursday when he was timed in 22.3 only to have it broken by Piedmont's Bill Hefter who won the 100-yard and 220-yard sprints. His 10.1 hundred clocking tied Rinne's time, also set in the trials.

San Ramon had a record breaker in Kent Brewer who cleared the bar at 12' while teammate Gary Larson put a new record in the books when he ran the four laps in 4:36.5.

LAS LOMAS had a pair of winners in Bob Fink who won the 120-yard high hurdles in :16 flat and Tom Nichols who won the high jump at 5-11.

Other first place varsity winners were as follows: 880—Neighbor, M, 1:58.6; 180-yard low hurdles—Pfeffer, P, 20.6.

In the Bee meet the Piedmont team won with 78½ points. Acalanes had 61½, Las Lomas 36, Miramonte 27⅓, San Ramon 23-5/6 and Del Valle 19-5/6.

CHARLES ROESCHEN of Acalanes won the low and high hurdles setting records in both as he won the highs in 9.4 and the lows in 14 flat.

Dick O'Neill set a pair of records for Piedmont winning the 75-yard sprint in 8.1 and the 150-yard dash in 15.6.

Peerless Poodle Proves Pace-Setting Prowess

DOGS ON PARADE drew large crowds May 1 at the Walnut Creek city park. This was the 13th annual Obedience Trial, sponsored by the Mt. Diablo Dog Training Club. About 350 dogs entered, from portions of Northern California. An invitational Hawaiian luau was the climax of the day's events.

Mimi Miffs Matched Mutts

At the recent obedience trial sponsored by the Mt. Diablo Dog Training Club at Walnut Creek city park, top honors went to Mimi, standard poodle, owned and trained by Clark Hood of Danville.

Mimi won the silver trophy for highest scoring dog for the day from the Mt. Diablo Club, with a score of 197 out of a possible 200 points in Novice A, I, class.

Max, a German Shepherd, owned and trained by Robert McCarthy of Walnut Creek, is just a pup.

BUT HIS performance in the ring matched the perfected abilities of his elder opponents as he won the first place trophy in the Novice A, II, class with a score of 196½.

Shown for the first time in an A.K.C. licensed show, Max earned his first leg towards his CD degree, was the highest scoring German Shepherd in the trial and was the second highest scoring dog in the show from Mt. Diablo.

Florence Fox, club treasurer, was proud of Crickett, her miniature poodle, who qualified for his first leg in the Utility class with a score of 191½.

Also entered in their first A.K.C show was Kiko, toy poodle owned by Louise Cabral; King, German Shepherd owned by Janice Ronneberg; Kurt, German Shepherd owned by LaVerne McCarthy, and Ame, German Shepherd owned by Lee Noakes.

THESE DOGS all earned their first leg towards the Companion Degree.

Star, German Shepherd also owned by Mrs. Noakes, won her first leg towards her CDX degree.

Mandy, Shetland Sheepdog owned by Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Piper also ualified in the Novice A ring with a score of 192.

Mandy knows she had better "obey the rules" when her mistress trains her, or else she may get a traffic citation, as Mrs. Piper is better known to us as a member of the Walnut Creek Police Department.

AMONG THE club's junior handlers who entered dogs in the trial was six year old Stacey Lee Davis.

Stacey trains Susie, a toy poodle, and they qualified for their first leg inthe Novice A ring.

Carol Ann Osterhoudt and her toy poodle, Jamie, won a third place ribbon in the Novice A ring with a score of 195½, and were awarded the trophy for highest scoring toy poodle in the trial.

Ron Hackley was awarded second highest junior handler award, as Mittsey, his Dascshund, with a score of 190, won the award for the highest scoring Dachshund in the show.

Ron attends the Wednesday evening training classes sponsored by the Mt. Diablo Dog Training Club.

Population Explosion Is Winning Topic

"We are in danger of becoming our planet's cancer," said Eugene GeRue in his winning address in the semi-annual Diablo Valley College Forensic Contest.

After the final round GeRue was awarded first place money of $25.

He spoke on the population explosion as being the chief "Challenge of the Sixties."

The $15 second place award went to Patricia Wolk of Martinez who in her second semester at DVC was participating in her first speech contest.

Pat's challenge was "that of the emerging Africa nations and their leaders."

The only repeat winner from last semester's rounds was Livermore's Don Winters. Placing second in the Fall, he came back with a challenging third this for $10.

This year for the first time, runner-ups were announced. They were Bonnie Maclennan of Danville, John Kartozian of Walnut Creek, and Ron Kruse of Walnut Creek.

In citing the success of this Associated Students sponsored event, Mrs. Bess Whitcomb, speech director at DVC, commented, "In three semesters the Forensic Contest has grown from four entrants to 19."

Which Schools Are Largest in The Categories?

Contra Costa County's largest school systems, Richmond and Mt. Diablo Unified, operate the largest individual school plants, and Richmond High School tops them all with 2450 students.

Second largest in the county is Pleasant Hill High School with 1888, according to reports prepared by the office of County Superintendent Floyd Marchus.

Among the junior high schools Richmond remains at the top. Portola enrolls 1622 and Downer and Helms both over 1300. Outside of Richmond, the largest individual junior high school is Antioch, which enrolls 1052.

Among schools with grades 7-8 Pleasant Hill Intermediate's enrollment of 982 is high.

Richmond school system operates the two largest elementary plants, Peres with 1333 and Mira Vista with 1104.

The next three largest are located in Mt. Diablo Unified District—Gregory Gardens with enrollment of 981, Hillcrest with 973 and Fair Oaks with 925.

Baldwin to Speak At Dollar Ranch

A gigantic non-partisan rally for Congressman John Baldwin of the Sixth Congressional District is planned for May 28 at the R. Stanley Dollar Ranch in Tice Valley, Walnut Creek, from 4 to 7 p.m., according to co-chairmen Laurence P. Corbett and Colonel Hamilton Bond.

Corbett is Republican co-chairman from Walnut Creek and Bond is Democratic co-chairman from Lafayette of a program to which Democrat, Republican and independent voters are invited.

Congressman Baldwin is flying out for one day to attend the rally and to make a brief report on developments in Congress. It will be his only appearance in Contra Costa County during the current legislative session.

Tickets will be available this week and will be distributed to Baldwin supporters throughout Contra Costa and Solano Counties.

According to co-chairman Bond, "This rally will give voters an opportunity to talk with their congressman and to express their appreciation for the work he has done for his district. It will be an informal gathering of persons in the district who wish to hear the facts of government first hand."

Jewish Center Men's Club Will Conduct Service

Rabbi David Robbins announced that tonight's regular Friday night services of the Contra Costa Jewish Community Center, 3800 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette, will be conducted by members of the center's Men's Club.

The adult education committee announced that William Mandel, scholar, newspaperman and radio and television commentator, will speak on 'Judaism and Russia' at the center at 8 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited and there is no admission charge.

Real Estate Business Is Healthy As Summer Comes

By BILL HAYWARD

BUSINESS IS HEALTHY . . . on the local front . . . especially the real estate business. . . . I suppose there will always be one or two that always cry about the dull days . . . however, we now feel the pulse of late spring and early summer activity.

Most of the fellows in the real estate industry . . . and when I say in it . . . I mean those that have been in it a few years and are doing it as a full time endeavor . . . not the HIT AND MISS part time eager beaver that hopes to make a killing in home sales then to move on to another field when things get slow.

AS I HAVE MENTIONED many times this year . . . 1960 is good . . . and now that one-third of the year is gone . . . we can gauge what may be in store for us during the next eight months. . . . I predict a very steady summer . . . plenty of homes available on the used house market . . . more than enough new homes in the above $20,000-bracket . . . above $30,000—slower.

The builder selling between $18,000 and $25,000—will keep busy if he remembers quality and sound construction . . . FHA traffic is slowing . . . giving the San Francisco office a chance to catch up on new loan applications.

G. I. Loans are still almost out of the market except for a few tracts in the county. . . . CalVet loans are available, however, very slow to process . . . some to six months.

The East Bay Mortgage Co. of Oakland has just announced their policies for the summer months as follows: FHA loans for minimum down payment, 3 year term, will cost the seller five points . . . or if the seller does not feel like paying such a tariff . . . it may be reflected in the selling price.

FOR BUYERS THAT can dig up 5 per cent as a down payment there are 30 year loans for 4½ points . . . or 10 per cent down, 30 years, four points . . . and finally if you are able to pay your loan off in 25 years and your home costs over 15,000—you can have a loan for four points.

Now if you are allergic to this POINT business . . . take a conventional loan at 6¼ or 6¾ per cent and you may borrow up to 75 per cent of the selling price . . . and this is it.

The banks are still very conservative . . . yes, very, in fact they do not go out of their way to make home loans, period.

Money is plentiful, however, all you must do is pay it back. Beats renting, I still say.

SWIMMING POOL WEATHER IS HERE . . . and I am told that the Indian Valley Swim Club still has a few memberships available to you folks that want to cool off in their crystal clear pool. In fact just as soon as they have a few more sign-ups for memberships, they will start construction and hope to have water in the hole by July.

SOUNDS GREAT and Joe Holmes at YEllowstone 5-0071 can give you a blow by blow account of their progress to date and also the club plans for the future.

THE SIMON HARDWARE STORE . . . big, big project on the old school property at the south end of Locust Street . . . looks to be a construction effort beyond the original plan. Today I was told that all of the old school property has been spoken for and there is no further land available there. This will mean more building, more action and more customers for Walnut Creek. This goes for both sides of California Drive between Broadway Plaza and Bothelo Avenue, too. How about that?

FOR YOUR INFORMATION . . . most downtown business property is selling for an excess of $2 per square foot . . . Multiple zoned land goes for from 50 cents per sq. ft. to $1 per sq. ft. We have a shortage on Multiple zoned lots . . . lots that are reasonably level and vacant. . . . Walnut Creek is generally accepted now as quite a bit more than a wide spot in the road. In fact Walnut Creek is in with Lafayette, the highway has bypassed us, too.

Dramateurs Lead Might Have Been a Professional

By JEAN HENDERSON

One of the real "veterans" of The Dramateurs, in point of roles portrayed and years of varied participation, is Alice Swenning, who is interpreting the very demanding role of Elizabeth Barrett Browning in the Dramateurs' current presentation of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" at the Lafayette Town Hall.

The play can be seen this weekend and three succeeding weekends, the run having been recently extended to include May 20-21.

ALICE AND Bob Swenning have been members of the organization for 10 years, and during that time, Alice has had the roles of Alma in "Summer and Smoke," which she says is her favorite; Gigi, in the play of that name; Anna, in "Anastasia;" Lotus Blossom, in "Teahouse of the August Moon;" Agnes, in "The Beautiful People;" the woman in "Separate Tables;" and the showgirl in "The Sleeping Prince;" plus some smaller parts in many plays.

She has also been president of the group, secretary, has served as stage manager, has been assistant to the director five or six times, and done a host of less glamorous chores, such as editing the monthly newsletter to the members, which she does at the present time.

While studying with Cynthia Stewart in New York, she had an offer to try-out with the Theater Guild, but having met Bob, she chose "marriage and the Olympic Games."

"BOB WAS practicing figure skating from early in the morning until he went to work, and then from dinner until late at night, so we did nothing but go to the ice rink," Alice says.

"But it paid off, and he had three marvelous months in European skating competitions before the Olympic Games of 1948 in St. Moritz, and won 4th place, the highest an American placed that year, in "pairs" competition.

"And after becoming national dance champion, national pairs champion and junior singles champion, he turned professional and we accepted an offer from the Berkeley Ice Rink, which brought us to California, where he teaches now."

SINCE THERE was no stopping young Mrs. Swenning on the subject of her husband, we learned further that while her main hobby is acting, Bob's is the training and riding of show horses. His own horse, Rogue Fox, is a champion hunter, and has won laurels in many shows, including the Grand National Horse Shows at the Cow Palace.

At present, he is training a Brazilian horse, which he will ride for the owner at some of the summer shows.

Alice is, with Tish Winkworth, one of the teachers of the drama school which The Dramateurs sponsor, and she was enthusiastic on the subject.

"The classes have produced plays for two PTA groups here in Lafayette," she said, and are taking part in the forthcoming Diablo Pageant of Arts. Then this summer, in the summer session we are having, the high school age group is planning to make a movie, so this is very stimulating and exciting."

THE SWENNINGS have three young children, Douglas 9, Christine 7 and Vickie 4, whose hobbies we will leave for some future interviewer.

For ticket reservations for "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" call Mrs. Harris, CL 4-2460; Mr. Betz, CL 4-4141; or Hink's Book Department, TH 5-1100.

Pioneer Luncheon

Las Juntas Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West will sponsor a Pioneer Luncheon tomorrow at the Kiwanis Youth Center in Martinez.

All men and women born in Contra Costa County in 1885 or earlier, or those who came to the county at least 75 years ago are invited to attend the luncheon.

Co-chairmen, Mrs. Milford Viera and Mrs. Albert Aljets stated those needing transportation should contact them.

ERROR

Studies by The Travelers Insurance Companies show that driver error caused 85 per cent of the highway accidents in 1959.

Young Artists Respond to Pageant Queries

Young artists of Contra Costa County have responded with enthusiasm to Diablo Pageant of Art's request for exhibits, say members.

Most of the public schools of the area are represented, as are some private art schools.

The judging committee has the following well known experts: Mrs. Doris Foley, consultant in elementary education for Contra Costa County; Mrs. Adoree Gantz, chairman of the Junior Gallery for the Diablo Pageant of Arts, and formerly co-ordinator of arts for the Walnut Creek schools.

Pianists At Pageant Are Man, Wife

Marcus Gordon, nationally known concert pianist, and his wife, Leona, equally noted as a soprano, will present a concert during the fifth annual Pageant of Arts, May 27 to 31, Walnut Creek.

Their appearance is scheduled for May 29 at 8 p.m. in the Recreation Building.

Gordon is a member of the faculties of the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and the University of California's extension department.

He has presented concerts throughout the United States, Canada, France, Italy, Switzerland and England.

He has appeared as guest soloist with the San Francisco, Dallas, Tulsa, Sacramento, El Paso, New Orleans and Honolulu Symphony Orchestras.

He was also featured in 32 half-hour programs which were telecast by KQED, San Francisco's educational television station.

Mrs. Gordon has appeared as guest artist with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra and has sung the lead roles in "Rosalinda," "Rose Marie," "Desert Song," "Song of Norway" and the "Merry Widow" with the Oakland Civic Light Opera Company.

She was soprano soloist in Mozart's "Requiem," presented last year at the University of California Music Festival. She also has appeared in San Francisco's Stern Grove.

Mrs. Gordon is the niece of Ellis and Henry Stoneson, builders of the Stonestown development in San Francisco. Her brother, Andreas Olstad Jr., is also a Bay Area builder.

Church Will Show 'Friendly Persuasion'

"Friendly Persuasion," a full length Hollywood film starring Gary Cooper, Dorothy McGuire, Tony Perkins and Marjorie Main, will be presented tonight, tomorrow and Sunday nights at 7:30 at the Walnut Creek Friends (Quaker) Church, 1950 First Avenue, Walnut Creek.

The public is invited to attend this movie which deals with the struggle of a Quaker family to remain a family of peace when caught in the backlash of the Civil War. It presents the basic concept of the Quaker faith with drama and humor.

There will be no admission charge but a free will offering will be taken.

Deadline Is May 21 for Spring Show

May 21 is the deadline for artists to enter the Diablo Art Association Spring Show, to be held in the Pittsburg Cultural Arts Center.

Exhibit chairman is Mrs. Mona Williams of Walnut Creek.

This year the Association will be the guest of the Contra Costa Concert Guild and will hold its exhibit in conjunction with a performance of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, on May 27.

The art exhibit will extend through May 29.

School Supt. Office Busy These Days

Funds to keep the schools operating and materials to assist in teaching flow in and out of the office of County Superintendent Floyd Marchus at a pace to match the spiraling growth in enrollment.

Mrs. Grace Thomson reported on this at a joint meeting of the Contra Costa Board of Supervisors and County Board of Education yesterday in the court house.

As head of business operations of the department, Mrs. Thomson described highlights of the fiscal, certification and audio-visual services performed on behalf of the county's 32 school districts.

This involves the processing of 4500 warrants per month, 9178 pay rolls to pay the salaries of approximately 9000 persons employed by the 32 school districts and 430 credentials issued to teachers.

Films for use in the county's classrooms are dispatched at the rate of 282 per day, books 117 and printed and other materials nearly 200 items per day.

In addition, the department scores as many as 22,000 tests per month for the school districts, Mrs. Thomson said.

It also keeps monthly pupil attendance records, as required by state law.

A service rendered directly to the public is that of administering the General Education Development test, by which the equivalent of high school graduation may be established for individuals who need such to qualify for employment.

An average of 522 tests per month is given.

On Flagship

Marine Pfc. Hartley E. Roe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley H. Roe of 2751 Larkey Lane, Walnut Creek, is scheduled to return to San Diego May 30 aboard the amphibious force flagship USS Eldorado, after a seven-month tour of duty with the U. S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

Serigraphs, Pottery to Be On Exhibit

An exhibit of pottery and serigraphs, arranged by the Valley Art Center, will be open to the public all day Saturday and Sunday at the Orchard Nursery, off Acalanes Road in Lafayette.

Mrs. Parker Stack, exhibition coordinator, has selected the work of six recognized artists for the show. Potters are Madeline Cortese Williams, Dale Hays and Charles McKee. Silk screen prints shown are the work of Kenneth W. Auvil, Syd Fossum and Alton Raible.

There will be no admission charge for the exhibition.

Spoof on Grand Opera Is Pageant Offering

A charming spoof on grand opera, entitled, "Opera Opera", is a one-act chamber opera written by William Saroyan with music by Martin Kalmanoff. It will be presented by the Pageant Opera Group during the Diablo Pageant of Arts Festival on May 28 at the Walnut Creek Recreation Center.

Mrs. Rayna Edwards, a newcomer who now lives in Walnut Creek, will direct the performance both musically and dramatically.

"I am delighted with the cast," said Mrs. Edwards, who has considerable professional experience as a vocalist and an actress.

"WE HELD public auditions in Walnut Creek and had people from all over the Bay area attend the tryouts. The leads will be sung by Richard Weede of Concord, son of opera star Robert Weede, and his wife, Peggy O'Hara Weede.

Also featured will be Melba Luna of Lafayette, mezzo soprano; Kenneth Wohn of Orinda, tenor; Gail Leonard of Berkeley, mezzo soprano; and Matthew Speir of Berkeley, bass baritone.

"While 'Opera Opera' is regarded as a comedy," said Mrs. Edwards, it is actually written on two levels — the superficial, which pokes fun at grand opera; and a deeper one which, written as it was during a world conflict in 1942, has a serious message which says that in spite of everything — war, loneliness, frustration — life is a wonderful thing.

Music for the performance will be played by Mrs. Rosalind Pollycove. Also in the cast will be four boys ages 10 to 12 who play candy vendors. They are Paul Edwards, Jess Jernigan, Paul Castro and Ben Bortin.

ALTHOUGH this is the first performance of the Pageant Opera Group, Mrs. Edwards has plans for the future of the group.

"There seems to be a definite need for this kind of music in our area," explained Mrs. Edwards who describes herself as a strictly 'long-hair' musician.

A teacher of voice, Rayna Edwards began her professional career as an actress and concert singer in New York.

During the war she toured Europe with an American entertainment unit and shortly before the war ended she married a soldier from California in Paris.

Women Voters Luncheon Will Be Tuesday

The League of Women Voters of Concord - Diablo Valley will hold a luncheon Tuesday at 12:30 p.m., at the Golden Nugget, Concord.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Lawrence Spear, president of the California League of Women Voters.

She will speak on league activities and organization.

Mrs. Spear is a member of the Claremont league and has been a member of the state board for several years.

Mrs. Sam Harris of Walnut Creek, who is in charge of arrangements, said members who wish to attend should make their reservations through her, 130 Sutherland Drive. She emphasized that members may bring guests.

The Concord-Diablo Valley league, although relatively new in this area, is rapidly growing in membership and activities.

It includes about 150 members from the central Contra Costa County area west to Orinda, south to Danville, and north to Pleasant Hill and Concord.

OLD HEADACHES
Salt water intrusion and sinking groundwater levels are not new headaches to Californians, says the Water Facts Library, although they are especially acute today. In 1929, the legislature studied reports that the groundwater levels from the Kings River south were being depleted at an alarming rate. At the same time, it was reported that irrigation, power and domestic uses had drawn so heavily on summer flows of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers that salt water intrusion was causing severe damage in the delta, says the library.

Cancer Drive to Set New Record

At the close of the April Cancer Crusade in Contra Costa, indications are that the American Cancer Society has set an all-time record for money collected to combat the disease.

"Preliminary reports show that we have achieved about 87 per cent of our goal," said Jack Chapman of Alamo, county crusade chairman.

"We need just $10,000 to push us over the top."

He reported that the cancer society had set itself a higher quota this year than ever before in order to accelerate the research attack on cancer. Contra Costa's quota is $70,070.

The society has allocated more than a million and a quarter dollars to research institutions in California so far in the current grant year, and is spending more than 15 million dollars nationally.

"Raising the money itself is not what's really important," Chapman said. "The significance lies in the fact that we're moving more and more rapidly toward the day when cancer will be conquered."

Educational activities during the April Crusade also reached a high point, Chapman stated.

More than 110,000 pieces of alerting information were distributed during the April Crusade and thousands of questions were answered by volunteer crusaders.

This is in addition to the county society's regular monthly output of thousands of pieces of cancer education material sent to clubs, schools, doctors and dentists of the county.

meet Howard Searby

New service lines are built faster nowadays by Howard Searby and his crew. Howard's secret: Preassembled cross-arms for power poles. Each cross-arm, complete with insulators and bracing, used to be put together in the field by the line crew. Now, with cross-arms prefabricated in our service centers, linemen can set poles and string power lines more easily and at less cost. It's another money-saving efficiency that enables us to provide for $1 the same gas and electricity that cost $1.28 elsewhere.*
